THE CORNERSTONE LAID

Adoption of the Judiciary Article by a Vote of 67 to 6.

A VOTE AGAINST PROHIBITION

Towns, Cities and Counties—The Removal of County Seats—Fees and Salaries of Officers—A Long Session

OLYMPIA, W. T., July 24.—The convention met at 9, the president in the chair. All present except Dallam and Willison (on leave.)

Prayer by Rev. W. B. Lee of Olympia.

The records were read and approved.

The president submitted a telegram from the American Sabbath Union asking for a provision in the constitution which shall prohibit Sunday labor, etc. It was signed by Elliot F. Shepard, president, and others; referred to the committee on preamble and bill of rights.

Mr. Eshelman submitted petitions from C. H. Shanck and others, and T. R. Gilden and others, asking for prohibitory clause; committee on miscellaneous subjects.

Dunbar presented petitions from Sol Smith and others, protesting against the insertion in the constitution of any article against incurring municipal indebtedness for public purposes; committee on state, county and municipal indebtedness.

THE CORNER-STONE LAID.

Adoption of the Judiciary Article by a Vote of 67 to 6

The judicial article was taken up for its third reading. The president stated that the printed copies had only just been delivered, and that the clerk had not been able to compare and see if it was correctly printed.

But the convention preferred to take it up and follow the reading and make corrections as they went along.

Mr. Eldridge moved that the article lie on the table subject to the call of the convention; lost.

The reading then proceeded and sundry corrections were made.

Mr. Power addressed the chair, holding a paper in his hand. The president suspected an amendment coming and informed Mr. Power that the article was beyond amendment except by unanimous consent or suspension of the rules.

Mr. Eldridge said he had supposed the article yet open to amendment. He wanted information. He lived in a district composed of three counties, with a district court in each. Were these courts to keep on or only hold one court in the whole district?

Mr. Turner said these courts would go on in all the counties.

Mr. Turner suggested an amendment in section 10, but met with the same suggestion from the chair about unanimous consent or suspension.

Mr. Power said he should object unless his amendment could also be received.

The president said he must take his chances, as he could not make any bargains.

Mr. Power objected, but the convention suspended the rules in Turner's favor.

Mr. Turner moved to amend section 10 adding to the clause "Provided that such jurisdiction granted by the legislature (to justices of the peace) shall not trench upon the jurisdiction of the superior or other courts of record," the words, "except that justices of the peace may be made police justices," and this motion prevailed.

Mr. Power moved to recommit this article to the committee with instructions to so report that the probate court system may not be merged in the superior court.

This motion was in order, and Mr. Power argued that to give up these probate courts would work great hardship, especially in rural districts, and no more unpopular clause could be put in the constitution.

Mr. J. Z. Moore asked if court commissioners could not do all the necessary work of a probate character.

Mr. Power thought [illegible], inasmuch as the commissioners' decisions must be reviewed by a judge.

Mr. Godman thought probate judges should serve out their present term [illegible] the committee or the committee on miscellaneous subjects would attend to that. He was therefore opposed to reference.

Mr. Power's motion failed.

Mr. Weisenburger [illegible] an amendment, but the convention wouldn't suspend the rules to get it in.

Mr. Shoudy offered another, but ran up against the same obstacle.

Mr. Buchanan asked if the prohibition of fees or perquisites [illegible] less effective [illegible] but all the effort [illegible] request was a suggestion by Mr. Dyer that these were [illegible] officers.

The roll was called and the article finally adopted, all the delegates voting aye except Messrs. Buchanan, Eldridge, Gowey, Newton, Stevenson and Suksdorf, who voted no, and Messrs. Dallam and Wilson, who were absent. Ayes 67, noes 6, absent 2.

Before the vote was declared Mr. Griffits asked if the prohibition of "perquisites" could be construed so as to include "salaries."

Mr. Turner thought not, but that the committee on revision would attend to that.

The president then declared that a majority of all the delegates elected having voted aye, the article was agreed to.

It was then referred to the committee on revision, adjustment and enrollment.

REPORTS ON PROHIBITION

The Convention Adopts the Majority Recommendation, After a Debate

The special order of the day, viz: the reports on prohibition from the committee on miscellaneous subjects was taken up.

Mr. Dickey renewed his motion that the minority report, recommending the separate submission of an article providing for constitutional prohibition, be adopted.

Mr. Sharpstein said the petitions all asked for the placing of an article on prohibition in the body of the constitution. The majority of the committee was opposed to that, and so reported, but the minority had started out with a sort of a side show, without answering the petitions, so he moved to amend by substituting majority report for minority report.

Mr. Comegys took the same view. The minority report was not responsive to the petitions. Many of the petitions did not want a separate article. He thought the committee would be willing to bring in a separate article in due time, but that now they are against putting it in the constitution.

Mr. Dickey said the committee representing the [illegible] had accepted this minority report [illegible] to the petitions and he thought it [illegible] perfectly [illegible].

J. M. [illegible] who signed with Dickey the minority [illegible] preferred to see this whole matter [illegible] that all the petitions, etc., had been received [illegible] considered that the committee had the whole subject, and not a part of it before them. They did not propose to give the petitioners all they asked, but to give the people a chance to say whether they were willing to give them. He thought this was the shortest way to bring the matter up and settle it.

Mr. Buchanan was in favor of submitting a separate article on prohibition as much as any man [illegible] but that was [illegible] and the committee [illegible] no propose to give them anything they [illegible] ask.

Mr. [illegible] was in a similar state of mind and [illegible] to the committee [illegible] which proposed a question which had not been even considered in the committee.

Mr. Brown favored the majority report, but thought it unnecessary to go over all the ground of the article again.

Mr. Warner thought everybody would be satisfied to let the committee have it again, and he so moved to refer.

Mr. Griffits said not just yet. All that was wanted now was to settle the question of whether the convention wanted to put such an article in the body of the constitution or not. That could be settled right [illegible] and he hoped it would be.

Mr. Sullivan of Whitman thought it was simply a misunderstanding on the part of some of the committee of their duties in this particular. If we say [illegible] to prohibition entirely, but was willing to [illegible].

Mr. [illegible] this reference [illegible] as one member of that committee [illegible] his vote as [illegible] majority of the committee [illegible] duty. He was willing to submit a separate article but wanted a vote as to whether the convention wanted an article in the constitution or not.

Mr. Browne favored the reference on the ground of new facts before the committee since these reports were made.

Mr. Comegys [illegible] an attempt to support [illegible] He favored sending the whole back to the committee for a report on the whole [illegible] believed in submitting the question separately, let them say so after [illegible] the whole subject.

J. M. Reed favored taking both reports back. The minority report hadn't much dignity connected with it perhaps, but the signers of it were as much entitled to maintain their dignity as the majority.

Mr. Sturdevant was willing to go directly to the point by adopting the minority report and sending the subject to the people.

Mr. Godman said he was tired of hearing motions to adjourn and recommit or something of that sort just as they reached a point where something definite could be done. These two reports were not inconsistent. The majority report is not in favor of putting prohibition in the constitution, neither is the minority. So they agree on that. But the minority go a little further and recommend substituting a separate article. We are told that the whole committee would do that if it was returned to them, so why not waive technicalities and do something while we have the matter before us.

Mr. J. Z. Moore moved the previous question and it was ordered.

The motion of Mr. Warner to refer back was lost, yeas [illegible], nays [illegible].

The motion of Mr. Sharpstein to adopt the majority report was carried.

Mr. Dickey moved that the minority report also be adopted; ruled out of order.

Mr. J. M. Reed moved that the recommendation of the minority report be adopted.

Mr. Dickey asked for an appeal to the house on his motion.

The president stated that it could not be entertained in that form, but waiving technicality he would ask the convention if it was willing to take up this subject any further.

Mr. Griffits claimed that by adopting the majority report the special order of the day was disposed of, and further consideration was in the nature of suspension of the rules.

The president was inclined to agree with him, but still preferred to take the opinion of the convention.

The convention being asked, voted decidedly that it did not wish to do anything more with the subject at this time.

The convention has therefore up to this date declined to have anything to do with prohibition in the constitution.

COUNTIES, CITIES, ETC.

A Majority Vote May Change the Location of County Seats

The report of the committee on county, city and township organization was taken up. On motion of Mr. Stiles, the chairman of that committee, the convention went into committee of the whole to consider the report.

The president said he had selected a chairman, but believed that gentleman had suspected what was in store for him and had disappeared. So he asked Mr. Griffits to take the chair. But Mr. Griffits with his blandest and most expansive smile claimed exemption on the ground that he was a member of that committee. He was excused.

The president then called Mr. Dunbar to the chair and the committee of the whole proceeded to business.

The report was first read in full.

Section one was read and adopted. It recognizes the existing county boundaries.

Section 2, prohibiting the removal of county seats except upon a majority vote, such question to be submitted not oftener than once in four years, was read.

Mr. Glasscock moved to amend by substituting a two-thirds vote for the majority vote.

Mr. Power hoped not. The centers of population were shifting and a two-thirds vote was almost prohibitory.

Mr. J. Z. Moore thought on the first reading that a majority vote of all the qualified electors of the counties was necessary, but upon suggestion of the chair he saw that only a majority of those voting on the proposition was necessary. But still he thought the section right as it stood, and that a majority vote was sufficient.

Mr. Kinnear favored the amendment, and thought a two-thirds vote should be required.

Mr. Warner supported it also.

Mr. Comegys wanted to know why majorities should not be allowed to rule, and by what right this convention was to take away the right of the majority to say where they wanted to have their county seat.

Mr. Stiles said that the committee had discussed this point a good deal, but had finally decided that a majority was sufficient, inasmuch as this was only a restriction on the legislature. The section only said that the legislature shall not change a county seat unless at least a majority vote of the electors agree to it. The legislature may require two-thirds or three-fourths of the electors to agree, if it chooses, but this convention is to merely say that unless at least one-half the electors do agree the legislature can not [illegible]. He thought this provision [illegible] to protect every [illegible].

Mr. Sullivan of Tacoma favored the amendment [illegible] as he said [illegible] the remark of the last speaker. Members of the legislature were elected merely for the [illegible] to make laws and not to change county seats, and he did not want to see a legislature elected on any such issue.

Mr. J. M. Reed opposed the amendment and believed a majority of the people knew how to manage their own business. A two-thirds vote was practically prohibitive in this matter and on general principles he did not believe in any arrangement which allowed two men to rule three men.

Mr. Griffits favored the committee's report and opposed the amendment. He asked the members to recollect that all powers not prohibited to the legislature could be exercised by it, and that this section proposed only to restrict them to the extent of saying that only unless a majority of the electors acquiesce can it change a county seat. That was as far as he was willing to go in restricting the legislature. The section does not say that when a majority of the electors so vote a county seat shall be changed, but only until a majority do so vote the legislature cannot change it. He favored majority rule in local communities and in this particular matter he thought ample safeguards were provided for everybody.

Mr. Dyer thought one man—that is a majority of one—should not be allowed to change a county seat and sacrifice property and inconvenience a great many people. At least two-thirds should be required for such a purpose.

Mr. Turner did not think the question of one half or two-thirds was [illegible] this project [illegible] section was not a grant of power, but merely a limitation upon the legislature. A very proper limitation as he believed, and going as far as the constitution ought to go in restricting the legislature.

Mr. Reed of Olympia joined with Messrs. Stiles and Turner in opposing the amendment.

The amendment failed, ayes [illegible], noes [illegible].

Mr. Warner moved to strike out the whole section; lost by a very decided vote.

Mr. Browne wished to amend by providing that no special law shall be enacted on this subject, but was informed that this could be provided for later on.

Mr. Dyer moved to strike out "majority" and insert "three-fifths," but on this proposition there were ayes 32, noes 35, and it was lost.

Mr. Weisenburger moved to strike out "four years" and substitute "ten years"; lost. The section was adopted without amendment.

NEW COUNTIES.

Adoption of Section Three, Relating to This Subject

Section three was read, providing for the establishment of new counties [illegible] 4000 [illegible] 000.

Mr. Sullivan of Tacoma wished to amend by requiring a two-thirds vote of the electors before a new county could be formed.

Mr. Stiles said this restriction would indefinitely postpone the establishment of new counties. Some of the present counties were at least 100 miles square and it was expected to create new counties in each territory, but if a two-thirds vote was required they would practically never be divided.

The amendment failed.

Mr. Sohns moved to amend by requiring that before any territory be stricken off from a county for the purpose of forming a new county a majority of the voters of the whole county shall [illegible] for it. The committee's report only requires [illegible] a majority of the voters in the territory stricken off.

Mr. Durie offered a substitute [illegible] setting forth the same idea, which Mr. Sohns accepted.

Mr. Durie opposed the idea of allowing a small portion of the inhabitants [illegible] county to vote themselves out of the [illegible] whole county should say when it was desired to be dismembered.

Mr. Stiles reiterated the explanation [illegible] was not a grant of power but merely a [illegible] upon the legislature. No county [illegible] change itself. All that is here [illegible] committee is that the legislature shall not arbitrarily cut off any portion of a county [illegible] people in that portion say they want to go. The alarm which seems to be [illegible] groundless. The committee simply [illegible] home rule.

The amendment failed.

Mr. Suksdorf moved to amend by [illegible] the proviso that any [illegible] indebtedness upon [illegible] affect the rights of creditors [illegible] proviso and the one preceding [illegible] that [illegible] liability for [illegible] county [illegible] should be carried over to the new county [illegible] contradictory.

Mr. Stiles explained that when a county became indebted nothing [illegible] indebtedness from the whole [illegible] settlement between the [illegible] was provided for and the [illegible] added to prevent any [illegible] keep the credit of the counties [illegible].

Mr. Griffits further explained [illegible] and opposed the amendment.

The amendment failed.

Mr. Turner moved to strike out [illegible] shall be no territory stricken [illegible] unless a majority of the voters [illegible] territory shall petition for such [illegible].

Mr. Turner said if the [illegible] counties was to be left to [illegible] plan of voting was nugatory. For if the legislature chose [illegible] the majority of the voters desire it and [illegible] that action [illegible] the legislature had cut accurately [illegible]. It might be the committee on legislature would present a more detailed scheme on this subject. He opposed committing the convention to such course of action in advance of any discussion of its merits.

Mr. Kinnear cordially supported the position of the last speaker.

Mr. Sullivan of Whitman opposed the amendment. The section as it stands is simply a restriction upon the legislature, and the legislature ought not to act unless the people wanted them to.

Mr. Godman favored the idea of consulting the people before the legislature exercised any power of dividing a county, and opposed Mr. Turner's amendment.

Mr. Comegys thought the legislative committee would attend to this matter later on and he should favor the amendment.

Mr. Griffits said that a provision of this kind was not expected to be self acting. It simply said that the legislature should not commence action in any such matter except upon the desire of a majority of the people to be affected. This commits the convention to nothing else but that, and it is highly proper that such a limitation should be made.

Mr. Turner asked how the legislature was to find out whether a majority had voted for it?

Mr. Griffits said that was merely a question of mathematics.

Mr. Turner's amendment was lost, yeas 20, nays not counted.

Mr. Warner moved to amend by requiring that 8000 population shall be left in any old county instead of 4000 as recommended by the committee, and instanced a number of possibilities that might happen that would be unjust.

Mr. Stiles said [illegible] that these direful things were not [illegible] likely to happen. Some reasonable limitations were necessary, but not so many details.

The amendment was lost.

Mr. [illegible] a limitation in the area of new counties to no less than 400 square miles as a proper restriction; lost.

Section 3 was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Weir the committee rose to report progress and ask leave to sit again.

The president resumed the chair.

Mr. Dunbar reported that the committee of the whole had considered the article referred to them, had made progress and asked leave to sit again; granted.

Mr. Turner asked leave of absence for to-day and to-morrow; granted.

Mr. Dyer moved to take a recess until 2 o'clock.

Mr. [illegible] suggested 1:30, which suggestion was adopted and the convention was declared adjourned to 1:30 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Adoption of Section Four on County and Township Organization

The convention reassembled at 1:30 P. M., the president in the chair.

The roll was called; all present save Messrs. Dallam, Allen and Turner.

On request of Mr. Dunbar Mr. Allen was excused for the remainder of the day.

On motion of Mr. Dunbar the convention went into committee of the whole for further consideration of the report of the committee on counties, etc., Dunbar in the chair.

Section 4, authorizing the legislature to establish a system of county and township organizations, was read.

Mr. Suksdorf asked the meaning of the term "township government" as used in this section.

Mr. Stiles explained that it referred to a system of government and not to county lines.

Mr. Browne moved to amend by striking out all the section so as to leave the section to read: "the legislature shall establish a system of county government which shall be uniform throughout the state, and by general laws shall provide for township organization." This would strike out all the provisions for the electors of any county having a voice in such establishments. Mr. Browne explained his object to be to leave the matter wholly in the hands of the legislature instead of having the voters of any county having anything to say about it. He desired to have a uniform system throughout [illegible] and liked the legislature to establish laws providing for the township system.

Mr. Reed of Olympia preferred the township system where every [illegible] he thought it would [illegible] in an [illegible].

Mr. [illegible] the legislature [illegible].

Mr. Sturdevant [illegible] township system of Wisconsin [illegible] commissioners. He favored [illegible].

Mr. Godman favored [illegible] committee [illegible] legislature power [illegible] the people could [illegible] do [illegible] and want to.

Mr. [illegible] the mover of the amendment [illegible] amendment was adopted [illegible] township government [illegible] be owners [illegible] the committee's report was [illegible] of local self government.

Mr. Browne's amendment failed and the section was adopted.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

Adoption of the Section as Reported by the Committee

Section 5 was taken up [illegible] the legislature to provide for [illegible] sheriffs [illegible] prosecuting attorneys [illegible] convenience [illegible].

Mr. Stiles [illegible] the debate [illegible].

Mr. [illegible] the duties [illegible] clerks, and Mr. Stiles [illegible].

[illegible] and Mr. [illegible] the words [illegible].

Mr. [illegible] The section [illegible] are admitted to [illegible] government, and then [illegible] provide as many [illegible]. To make [illegible] all counties [illegible] the officers [illegible].

[illegible] were [illegible] been [illegible] trustees ought [illegible] lost without [illegible] was adopted, [illegible] to hold his office for more than two terms in succession

Mr Suksdorf moved to strike out the section lost

Mr Gowey moved to amend by restricting this provision to sheriffs and treasurers lost, ayes 30, nays 38.

Mr Godman renewed the question of whether a superior court judge was a county officer

Mr Stiles said no that his jurisdiction was coextensive with the state

Section 7 was adopted

SALARIES AND FEES.

The Section Adopted After a Debate, Principally About Sheriffs

Section 8 allows the legislature to fix the salaries of county officers, except that public administrators surveyors and coroners, may or may not be salaried officers

Mr Crowley proposed that sheriffs be added to the list of officers who may or may not be salaried and argued that salaried sheriffs would not be so efficient or prompt, and that it was almost impossible to establish a salary for such an officer or to anticipate the amount of work he would be called on to do By this amendment the whole matter would be left in the hands of the legislature, and not be beyond reach by being in the constitution

Mr Cosgrove argued briefly in the same line, and favored the amendment

Mr Reed objected to this line of argument because it inferred that an officer would not do the duties of his office without a bonus Such an officer had no business in office, and would not be elected by an intelligent community As to a sheriff not charging large fees he had been ten years auditing sheriff's accounts and if there were any bigger leak in government finances or more improper charges and constructive fees than in the sheriff's offices, he was unaware what it was And if there was any officer who ought above all others to be a salaried officer it should be the sheriff

Mr Stiles said he had expected this argument because at first sight there seemed something in the argument. But the sheriff did not move quickly in any instance for his simple fee, but for his mileage, and that could be fixed by the legislature The committee simply propose to pay a salary to the sheriff for his personal services and to prevent constructive fees He had lived under a system where the sheriff had been salaried, and had seen the expense of the sheriff's office come down from $20,000 to $6000, without lack of efficiency in the office

Mr Godman favored fees for sheriffs, and if the legislature was to provide mileage, then that was a fee system over again in another form

Mr Stiles said this was for mileage actually paid out by the sheriff, and the fees went to the county treasury

Mr Cosgrove asked if horses were to be furnished to a salaried sheriff

Mr Stiles—No more than railroads are furnished to them

Mr Cosgrove—Does not the sheriff have to pay his own deputies?

Mr Stiles—As I understand it, the practice now is for the sheriff to take the fee and the deputy the mileage.

Mr Sturdevant didn't believe a court would construe this section so as to allow any mileage to the sheriff or his deputies

Mr Griffitts thought if the gentlemen really understood the position of the committee as explained by the chairman (Stiles) there would be no further disagreement. There was no question but that the fee system was a vicious one and ought to be done away with as far as possible Now the only question to decide here is whether the sheriff is to be exempted from this reform The speaker had lived and practiced law for years where a sheriff was a salaried official and he was satisfied with that system He had also practiced law here in Washington territory for five years, where the sheriff had fees and for limitless ingenuity in the charging of enormous and constructive fees he believed that official to be easily ahead of anything he ever heard of He was the most mischievous official of them all in this respect, and should be the first to come under the reform All that the chairman means by his statement relative to mileage is that the sheriff may receive reimbursement for actual outlay, but not receive mileage in any form to augment his income

Mr Sullivan of Whitman thought the difficulty would be obviated by allowing the legislature to fix mileage. It was very difficult to estimate in advance how far a sheriff was going to travel in any one year and his salary must either be fixed at an enormous figure or else provide for his actual outlay for travel being returned to him

Mr Sturdevant was decidedly opposed to any such amendment The chief objection here was that sheriffs charged constructive mileage The effect of all this would be to leave him his fees and give him a salary besides

Mr Lillis said he would oppose the idea of a salaried sheriff if he was to be given mileage

The amendment failed yeas [illegible], nays 6, and section 8 was adopted

Section 9 prohibits the exemption of any county or its inhabitants or its property, from paying a fair share of taxes adopted without debate

SECTION TEN.

Relating to the Government of Towns and Cities

Section 10 reads as follows "Corporations for municipal purposes shall not be created by special laws, but the legislature by general laws shall provide for the incorporation, organization and classification, in proportion to population, of cities and towns which laws may be altered amended or repealed. Cities and towns heretofore organized or incorporated may become organized under such general laws whenever a majority of the electors voting at a general election shall so determine and shall organize in conformity therewith And cities or towns heretofore or hereafter organized, and all charters thereof framed or adopted by authority of this constitution, shall be subject to and controlled by general laws Any city containing a population of 25,000 inhabitants or more shall be permitted to frame a charter for its own government, consistent with and subject to the constitutional laws of this state, and for such purpose the legislative authority of such city may cause an election to be had at which election there shall be chosen by the qualified electors of said city fifteen freeholders thereof who shall have been residents of said city for a period of at least two years preceding their election and qualified electors, whose duty it shall be to convene within ten days after their election and prepare and propose a charter for such city Such proposed charter shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said city, and if a majority of such qualified electors voting thereon ratify the same, it shall become the charter of said city, and shall become the organic law thereof and supersede any existing charter, including amendments thereto and all special laws inconsistent with such charter Said proposed charter shall be published in two daily newspapers published in said city for at least thirty days prior to the day of submitting the same to the electors for their approval as above provided. All elections in this section authorized shall only be had upon notice, which notice shall specify the object of calling such election and shall be given for at least ten days before the day of election in all election districts of said city Said elections may be general or special elections and except as herein provided shall be governed by the law regulating and controlling general or special elections in said city such charter may be amended by proposals therefor submitted by the legislative authority of such city to the electors thereof at any general election, after notice of said submission published as above specified, and ratified by two-thirds of the qualified electors voting thereon In submitting any such charter or amendment thereto, any alternative article or proposition may be presented for the choice of the voters and may be voted on separately without prejudice to the others

Mr Godman moved to amend by changing 25 to "50 in the clause allowing cities to frame a charter lost in half a minute

Mr J Z Moore at the request of Mr Turner who was absent moved to amend by inserting a clause authorizing the legislature by special act to extend the limits of cities by taking in compact and contiguous territory

Mr Sullivan, of Whitman opposed this, for it was simply a question of jobbery in all these matters of special laws. If cities close together want to come together there can be a provision allowing cities to disincorporate and come together again either under the general law or under this general authority to frame a charter for their own government He declaimed with some warmth, against all special laws, and the special law under which the city of Colfax was existing to day It was all jobbery and he wouldn't have it anywhere, at any price if he could help it

Mr Weisenburger favored the amendment because he thought he knew certain towns that ought to be enabled to get the benefit of it

Mr Stiles said he knew the case the gentleman referred to, and that it could be managed perfectly well under a general law

Mr Sturdevant was opposed to any scheme or provision that would enable the big fish to swallow all the little ones.

The amendment was lost

Mr Sullivan of Tacoma moved to strike out the whole section after the first sentence He mentioned various abuses which he claimed would arise or were already in existence if such provisions were allowed to go into the constitution and wanted the whole matter left to the legislature

Mr Stiles could not see that this section was a bad one The principal objection is to this matter of fifteen freeholders but they are elected to simply prepare and submit a charter If the people want it they vote for it if not they say so and that is the end of the charter and the fifteen freeholders.

Mr Dyer opposed the amendment and favored the system presented by the section He had lived all his life in St Louis until he came to this territory and this system worked well there There were many things, such as police and sanitary regulations, which cities should have but which the remainder of the county did not have

Mr Reed believed in the same line of argument

Mr. Kinnear couldn't see any objection to letting cities of 25,000 change their own laws and not make them always come to a legislature and oftentimes be defeated there by legislative combinations.

Mr Durie felt the same way, and believed in local self government, instancing his own city of Seattle as a case where a new charter was badly needed and ought to be allowed.

Mr Hoyt moved to amend Mr Sullivan's amendment (to strike out certain words) by changing these words so as to require only a majority instead of two-thirds of the electors to ratify such a proposed charter

Mr Browne thought that if this section was adopted there would be new charters sought after about every two years, at great expense on the payment of these various commissions of 15 Leave it all to the legislature to provide by general law for all these cases, and to amend this law as often as appears needful

Mr Cosgrove asked what was before the committee

The chair asked Mr Hoyt what was the position of his amendment.

Mr Hoyt said he did not offer it as an amendment to Mr Sullivan's amendment to perfect the section before it was struck out.

Mr Browne said Mr Hoyt's motion was not in order until the motion to strike out had been put and decided.

Mr Eldridge said that if Mr Hoyt's motion was rejected, and Mr Sullivan's motion was adopted then the section was beyond the reach of amendment, and that the convention had the right to perfect it as far as was desirable before voting on the question to strike out

The chair took this view also and declared Mr Hoyt's motion [illegible]

Mr Stiles thought the section right as it stood but [illegible] would not agree to vote for a section [illegible] any more than a majority [illegible] to ratify a charter

[illegible] was adopted

The question [illegible] on Mr Sullivan's motion to strike out all but the first sentence of the section

Mr Griffitts reviewed the arguments hitherto advanced and argued in favor of allowing the people of a city to say what their charter should be He would personally prefer to reduce the required number from 25 000 to 15 000 rather than raise it

Mr Cosgrove raised the point of order that a motion to strike out could only be amended by striking more or striking less. If the motion to strike prevails then it all goes of course but if it is lost all the amendments made go with it.

The chair so understood it

Mr Hoyt objected to that, saying that if the motion to strike out failed it still left his amendment standing just as though it had been made before Mr Sullivan's motion was offered

The chair said he so understood it, and so intended to state

Mr Browne moved to amend by striking out only all the section after the second sentence, beginning with the words "any city containing a population, etc "

Mr J Z Moore acting under the ruling of the chair in Mr Hoyt's case, submitted an independent proposition changing 25,000 to 15 000.

Mr Cosgrove asked if that was in order

The chair said he should rule that it was, and the gentleman could appeal if he desired

Mr Cosgrove—The gentleman does not so desire He only wants to know how to act in the future

Mr Moore said he doubted if there was a city in the territory that had 25,000 inhabitants, and so he wished to reduce the number, lost

Mr Sullivan, of Whitman, hoped the section would stand as it was

A city of 25 000 people knew better what it wanted than any legislature could know. What does a legislator from Okanogan know of the needs of Seattle? he asked He would be willing to make the number of inhabitants 20 000 There was too much legislation anyhow and the greatest benefit to the state of Washington would be to wipe out the legislature for ten years

Mr Browne's amendment was lost.

Mr Sullivan's amendment met the same fate a little more pronounced, for not a single aye was heard

Section ten was then adopted, with the single amendment offered by Mr Hoyt.

THE REMAINING SECTIONS

The Article as a Whole Adopted in Committee.

Section 11 (counties cities, towns or townships to make and enforce police and sanitary regulations), section 12 (the legislature to have power to impose and collect taxes on all public or municipal corporations but may vest that power in the corporations themselves) section 13 (private property not to be taken or sold for taxes except by ordinary process of law) section 14 (prohibiting the making of any profit out of the public moneys by officers having charge of them) were successively adopted without debate or amendment

Section 15 reads as follows "All moneys assessments and taxes belonging to or collected for the use of any county city, town or other public or municipal corporation coming into the hands of any officer thereof shall immediately be deposited with the treasurer or other legal depositary to the credit of such city, town or other corporation respectively, for the benefit of the funds to which they belong

Mr Browne desired to know what would be understood by the word immediately Mr Stiles said it meant "at the earliest reasonable time"

The section was then adopted.

On motion of Mr Stiles the recommendation of the committee regarding the election, etc of county clerks was ordered reported to the convention to be referred to the committee on schedules

Mr Kinnear wished to offer an amendment to section 8

The chair thought reconsideration would be necessary

Mr Cosgrove said that had not been the course pursued by the previous committee.

The chair thought the circumstances were not similar

Mr Mires moved that the article as a whole be adopted so voted

Mr Griffitts asked if everybody was through, and Mr Reed called attention to certain typographical errors, which were corrected

Mr Griffitts then moved that the committee rise and recommend the adoption of the article so voted, and the committee rose.

CHANGES BY THE CONVENTION.

A Three fifths Vote Necessary to Change a County Seat.

The president resumed the chair.

Mr Dunbar reported, recommending concurrence in the amendments adopted by the committee of the whole, and the adoption of the report as a whole.

The first portion of the report relative to the amendments, was adopted, and the amendments were concurred in

Mr Crowley moved to amend section 8, repeating his amendment offered in committee of the whole regarding sheriff's fees, and asked to have the yeas and nays taken

Mr Dunbar briefly argued in favor of the amendment.

Mr Kinnear was in favor of the present officers finishing out their terms of office and taking their fees, but afterward the salary system should go into effect.

Mr Reed took the same view, and reiterated in the most positive terms his views and experience in the matter of illegal sheriffs' fees, and the extreme necessity of making the sheriff a salaried officer to prevent such illegal fees and such an unlawful drain on the public purse As territorial auditor he had seen so much of this thing that he felt sure he was right in urging the abolishing of fees to the sheriffs

Messrs Warner, Crowley, Power, Cosgrove, Buchanan, Sturdevant Godman and Dunbar favored the amendment, and Messrs Griffitts Stiles and Dyer opposed it in a further debate on the subject lasting forty minutes more

The amendment failed by the following vote

Mr McReavy moved a call of the house

The chair decided the motion lost, and on several members calling "division" ruled that the demand was not made quick enough, though it was about an even question whether the calls did not come simultaneously with the chair's announcement of the vote

Mr J Z Moore moved to amend lost

Mr Griffitts moved a call of the house lost on a rising vote figures not announced from the chair

Mr Sohns moved the previous question on Mr Glasscock's motion as amended to three fifths by Mr Dyer and the motion prevailed

Mr Mires moved to adjourn lost

Mr J Z Moore moved to lay on the table, lost.

Mr Mires—I move we adjourn

The chair—The motion is out of order only one motion to adjourn is allowable after the previous question is ordered, and that has already been had

Mr Griffitts moved a call of the house, lost.

Mr. Griffitts—We are not voting right. Rule 46 provides that the clerk call the names of members

The Chair—That is after a call has been ordered, not on a motion to order a call [Laughter on Mr Griffitts]

Before the announcement of the vote MacReavy asked to change his vote no to yea and leave was granted

Mr Kinnear arose to propose an amendment.

MacReavy wanted to say something about the voting but the chair said he couldn't have two of them talking at once and recognized Mr Kinnear who sent up an amendment to the desk

Mr Comegys moved to adjourn; carried, yeas 39, nays 25 and at 5 30 the convention stood adjourned to Thursday at 9 A M

THE MONTANA CONVENTION.

There Will Be Three Supreme Court and Eight District Judges.

HELENA, July 24—The committee of the whole considered the proposition relating to the judiciary system during the entire day, except an hour for the introduction of routine matter A goodly portion of it was not important, however

Collins's resolution introduced yesterday, that each county shall have a judge on the California plan aroused an animated discussion, in which one third of the members participated. Four additional judges would be necessary, making a total of sixteen This would make nineteen judges including the three supreme court judges. The expense of this action would be $76 000 Other members favored the attachment of certain counties, and seven eight or nine judges

Richards said he was opposed to creating offices for office-seekers which would, as had been asserted give them time to hunt and fish Another member said he was not in favor of a scheme that would increase the number of loafing lawyers, as there are too many of that class in Montana, and it gives them opportunity, as one judge had done, to play seven-up behind a haystack

President Clark affirmed that the best method to pursue was to limit the number of judges to seven and pay better salaries so as to get competent men of ability He did not believe that sixteen competent men could be selected who would consent to serve at the present compensation allowed

Three amendments were offered relating to the divisions of the districts Finally it was settled that there should be eight judges, and in the eight districts several counties should be attached, the important counties having one each.

A resolution, relating to the establishment of a bureau and office of commissioner of mines was introduced

Joy's resolution in relation to Chinese labor was reported from the committee adversely

Maginnis offered a resolution providing that the constitution should contain nothing which would prevent municipalities from incurring indebtedness for a water supply, providing the municipality owned and controlled the works.

Myers offered a resolution prohibiting any officer of the United States from holding state office during his term of office

THE IDAHO CONVENTION.

A Number of Important Questions Considered During the Day

BOISE CITY Idaho July 24—Reports from the committee on revenue and finance, also on counties and county organization, in the Idaho constitutional convention, were read and ordered printed

The convention then resumed consideration of the educational bill On yesterday it was agreed that one half the common school lands should be sold To day the question at issue was the method of investing the permanent school fund After a long discussion it was determined that investments should be exclusively in state bonds or first mortgages on improved farm property, not exceeding one third the value of such property

The report of the committee on public and private corporations was next taken up Existing charters are confirmed New charters except for corporations under control of the state, can only be granted by general law, subject always to repeal or alteration In the election of directors of corporations cumulative voting is provided for the protection of minority rights All railways are declared public highways and common carriers subject to legislative control as to freight and passenger rates.

Without concluding the article the convention took a recess

At the afternoon session the educational paper was taken from the president's table and considered in detail So many changes were made that the convention ordered the same reprinted before concluding the consideration.

The report of the committee on corporations was again taken up The section forbidding consolidation or pooling by competing lines was stricken out, but notice was given that it would be offered again in the convention, and the ayes and noes called.

THE TWO DAKOTAS.

The Reports of Both Judiciary Committees Submitted.

SIOUX FALLS Dak , July 24—Consideration of the reports of the judiciary committee was the main feature of to-day's session The report provides for eight judicial districts.

The committee on legislative apportionment has completed its work and will submit its report to-morrow. The South Dakota legislature will consist of forty five senators and 128 representatives.

There is a feeling among many members that a mistake has been made in providing for so cumbersome a legislative body.

THE BISMARCK CONVENTION

BISMARCK, Dak., July 24—The judiciary committee has at last reported to the convention. The committee recommends a supreme court of three judges and six judicial districts, with as many judges, and that the present system of justices of the peace be retained, the terms of the judges of the supreme court to be six years.

The Scandinavian Temperance Society of North Dakota has petitioned the convention on behalf of the Scandinavian inhabitants to prohibit the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors in the state.

THE MANITOBA & NORTHWESTERN.

The Northern Pacific About to Secure Control of the Road

WINNIPEG Manitoba, July 24—It has become known here that as a result of Villard's recent visit here the Northern Pacific officers are about to secure control of the Manitoba & Northwestern railway

This road is [illegible]05 miles long and has twenty six miles of branches It extends in a northwesterly direction from Portage la Prairie, sixty miles west of Winnipeg, and taps a magnificent agricultural country The objective point is Prince Albert, at the forks of the two Saskatchewan rivers It is the most important key to the Saskatchewan country, and will prove an important feeder to the Northern Pacific

AN AGED CRANK.

A Hoosier Who Has Fasted for Forty Days and Is Yet Alive

INDIANAPOLIS July 24—Robert Marvel aged 85 years of Pike township, has completed the fortieth day of his abstinence from food and drink Hundreds of curious people from all parts of the country have visited his house, and the medical fraternity have thoroughly awakened to the marvellous nature of the case

Dr Hasby says that this marvellous fast is even more wonderful than that of Dr Tanner's. Marvel is growing quite weak and owing to his age the probability is that he can not survive much longer

THE SAMOAN TREATY

The New York "Herald" Intimates That the Senate May Reject It.

NEW YORK July 24.—The Herald prints a special from Washington this morning to the effect that the Samoan treaty may be rejected by the senate, on the ground that Phelps and Kasson sacrificed their country's interests to their personal interests, both wishing to get a foreign mission and desiring to accomplish something definite The Herald declares that the United States commissioners were outwitted by Bismarck, but does not point out any specific instances

FOR ABETTING THE PRIZE FIGHT.

Two Railroad Officials Arrested in Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, July 24.—A special agent for the state of Mississippi came here this morning from Baton Rouge, having an order from Governor Nicholls in response to the requisition from Gov Lowrey, of Mississippi, for the arrest and delivery of R Carroll and Edward L. Tyler railroad officers. They will be arraigned at Purvis on the charge of aiding and abetting the recent prize-fight.

THE GUTHRIE CHARTER ELECTION.

No Interference on the Part of the Municipal Authorities.

GUTHRIE, I T, July 24.—The much talked of charter election, which was prevented a week ago by the mayor, was held to-day, no opposition being offered by the city administration. The charter was carried

The proposition to issue $50 000 worth of bonds received the majority of the votes.

Take Simmons' Liver Regulator. One dose is worth 100 dollars.

THE BLYTHE CONTEST

An Important Letter Admitted in Evidence.

WRITTEN BY THE MILLIONAIRE.

A Statement From London That Discredits the Claim of Mrs Ashcroft and Little Florence.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24—After a prolonged argument by the attorneys in the Blythe will case as to the admissibility in evidence of a letter wrote by Blythe to James Perry grandfather of Florence Blythe wherein there was a hint at a [illegible] and the statement that Florence had been provided for in his (Blythe's) will Judge Coffey overruled the objections and admitted the letter in evidence

In admitting the letter, however Judge Coffey said "It is understood that I express no opinion in the matter I simply allow the paper in evidence"

Mrs Ashcroft was recalled and identified a number of letters as some that had been written by Thomas H Blythe

LIGHT FROM LONDON.

An ex-Member of Parliament Gives Some Facts About the Blythe Case.

LONDON, July 24—D I Gobbett late member of parliament for Limerick who has been connected with the famous Blythe case now before the courts in San Francisco tells a somewhat remarkable story

He says that while acting for some of the claimants to Blythe's millions he learned some very remarkable and trustworthy information in reference to the child who is now claiming the estate About twelve or thirteen years ago Thomas H Blythe, who was frequently in the habit of coming to London while walking on Oxford street late one evening, spoke to a girl who was looking into a shop window and whose name turned out to be Perry She kept company with a young man named Ashcroft The girl on several occasions visited Blythe at his apartments. She married Ashcroft, but previous to this a child was born and placed under the roof of Ashcroft's mother, old Mrs Ashcroft, where she resided for several years Mrs. Ashcroft, jr stated over and over again to her mother in law and other members of her husband's family that Ashcroft was the father of this child

The child was at last taken, under very peculiar circumstances, away from the grandmother by young Mrs Ashcroft About this time Ashcroft died, and the death of Blythe occurred a few months later

Mrs Ashcroft then left England for America, accompanied by her father Then it was that for the first time Mrs Ashcroft made the statement that the child was Blythe's She gave the child while in England two different names—Florence and Flora but she omitted on both occasions to give the name of the father as Thomas H Blythe who never under any circumstances lived in England with Mrs Ashcroft nee Perry

THE REGIMENTAL BANDS.

The Court-Martial Closes Its Labors in the Test Case

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24—The court martial in the case of Isaac C Coggin, a member of the Second regiment band N G C, who has been on trial for disobeying orders in refusing to report for duty on July 4, has concluded its labors and the sentence in the case is that Coggin pay a fine of $50 and be dishonorably discharged from the service

In the Fourth of July celebration only non union bands were employed, the celebration committee claiming that this was necessary to save expense. The Musical Union of the city then ordered all its members not to participate in the parade

Coggin is a member of the union and also the leader of the Second regiment band and he elected to obey the union instead of the regiment when ordered by the latter to parade This is regarded as a test case for the other members who disobeyed orders.

THE TREASURE OF THE GRANADA.

It Has Been Secured by Mexican Divers and Will Be Sent to England

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—When the Pacific Mail Company's steamer Granada was wrecked at Point Tejupan, about sixty miles south of Manzanillo, Mexico, last month, she had in her specie locker in the stern about $200,000 in treasure, which was destined for England.

As soon as the news of the steamer's loss was cabled to England the underwriters there sent out an expedition, consisting of five divers with a full outfit of diving apparatus for the purpose of saving the treasure if possible A dispatch now received here states that the expedition got as far as Nogales, Mexico and there received a telegram from Manzanillo stating that native divers had recovered all the treasure on the Granada and that it was useless for them to proceed further They, therefore, returned

The money will all be sent on to England.

THE SAN FRANCISCO GRAIN FLEET.

A Large Increase in the Number of Vessels Clearing From That Port.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24—For the cereal year ending June 30 1889, there were loaded and cleared from San Francisco 281 sailing vessels with flour and grain This is ninety three more than for the previous year Most of these vessels were laden with wheat, and cleared for Europe There were three full cargoes of barley to New York, four full cargoes of wheat to Rio de Janeiro, three to Callao, and one to Valparaiso and six full cargoes of wheat one of barley and one of barley, wheat and oats to Australia and one cargo of flour to Hong Kong The other 260 vessels took flour and grain to Europe These 281 vessels went out under charters varying from 19s to 43s 6d.

THE TERRY CRIMINAL CASE.

A Rumor That Judge Deady, of Portland, Will Try Them

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24—Yesterday in the United States circuit court the five criminal cases against David S. Terry and two against Sarah Althea Terry were set for trial August 15. The demurrers will be heard August 26, and the trial depends on the overthrow of the demurrers

Judge Deady, of Portland has been mentioned in connection with the cases and rumor has it that he will probably try them

ENGLISH WOOL.

It Is To Be Admitted at Pittsburg Practically Duty Free.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24—A special from Pittsburg says At the suggestion of the surveyor of the port of Philadelphia the Pittsburg appraisers have decided to admit English wool at 10 cents per pound, instead of 30 or 60 cents according to classification, as heretofore. This will make English wool cheaper than American, and raises fears that the local wool industry will be ruined

A Bark Ashore on the Beach Below Astoria.

A FISHING VESSEL WRECKED

Senator Stewart's Views on the Silver Question—A Fine Farm House Burned—The Sealing Fleet.

ASTORIA, Or., July 24.—A dispatch just received from the Cape says: A bark is on her beam ends off the weather beach, abreast of Easterbrook's. The crew, in a small boat, are displaying signals. They are supposed to want a tug. The vessel is supposed to be the bark Jeannette Ferguson, from Victoria July 20. The tug Escort No. 2 starts right away. No further particulars can be obtained to-night.

A FISHING SCHOONER WRECKED.

The Crew Reach Popoff Island in Safety—A Sealer Lost.

PORT TOWNSEND, July 24.—The fishing schooner Edward E. Webster, of Port Townsend, was totally wrecked June 28 on a sunken rock off the entrance of Coal bay, Unga Island, Alaska, and was a total loss, including a few sealskins and fish and the vessel's stores.

The Webster was coming into the harbor under full sail before a stiff breeze and a heavy sea, when she struck, and her keel was immediately smashed. The crew proceeded to Popoff island, where they separated among several vessels.

The Webster's commander, Henry McCalmond, has arrived here on the schooner Wanderer.

The vessel was valued at $4,500, and was insured in the Firemen's Fund and other companies for $3500, and was owned by Solomon Jacobs.

Captain McCalmond reports that another sealing vessel from San Francisco, name unknown, had foundered at sea with all hands aboard, excepting two seamen who reached shore safely.

VIEWS OF SENATOR STEWART.

In One Sense Our National Debt Has Not Been Decreased.

TACOMA, W. T., July 24.—Senator Stewart, of Nevada, who addressed the constitutional convention yesterday at Olympia, spent to-day in Tacoma. He leaves in the morning for San Francisco. In an interview upon the silver question, Senator Stewart said, among other things:

"It is difficult to condense in a few words the silver question, but the basis of it is simple. It should be termed the money question. When there is a failure of any particular crop, people say at once that the price of such article will go up. So of another article. When there is a prospect that it will be scarce, everybody looks for a rise. The same is true with regard to money, but it is less understood. If the money were doubled to-day, the price of commodities would go up, or, which would be the same thing, the value of money would go down.

"From 1850 to 1873 the annual product from the mines was nearly $200,000,000 of gold and silver. This furnished such a supply of money as to make property go up gradually during all that period. It was more than 2½ per cent in twenty-three years. Everybody could put money in property judiciously, and make money by doing so. There was a demand for property, because it was advancing. The world at that time was in debt about $100,000,000,000. The principal bondholders of the world conceived the idea of making money more valuable and property cheaper, for the purpose of enhancing the value of the bonds which they held. The plan was to make money scarce by reducing the amount of material out of which it could be made. To accomplish this purpose, they rejected silver and excluded it from the mints of the civilized world, so that money could be made only of gold, and instead of having an annual supply of $200,000,000 out of which money could be manufactured, it was reduced by this manipulation to less than $100,000,000. The result has been just what ought to have been anticipated by the bondholders, but not by the people. The price of property has depreciated in the last sixteen years about 25 per cent., where there is no local cause such as increase of immigration or development of new countries, to counteract it. The farms in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York and other Eastern states have depreciated in value in sixteen years at least 25 per cent. This is the result of contraction produced by cutting off one-half of the supply of money metal. This contraction has also enhanced the value of bonds from 80 to 40 per cent., and added at least $35,000,000,000 to the indebtedness of the world. If that indebtedness is to be measured, as it ultimately must be, in days of toil, the national debt is to-day as large as at the close of the war. If it is to be measured by human exertion, by which it must ultimately be measured, it will require as many days of toil, bushels of wheat or bales of cotton to pay the national debt to-day as it would have taken to pay the debt when the war closed."

MARION COUNTY NEWS ITEMS.

A Fine Farm Residence Destroyed by Fire—Loss, $3600.

SALEM, July 24.—The fine farm residence of Mrs. John Downing, near Whiteaker, this county, was destroyed by fire, Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. It was a total loss, with no insurance. The house and contents destroyed were valued at between $7000 and $3000. It caught fire from a defective flue.

The Pacific Medical Company filed articles of incorporation to-day with the secretary of state. The object is to manufacture and sell medicines and appliances for the treatment, relief and cure of diseases. Principal place of business, Albany; capital stock, $3000; W. H. Rowland, George W. Gray, J. R. Hughes and Peter Hume, stockholders and incorporators.

THE SEALING FLEET.

The Total Catches of the British and American Schooners Thus Far.

VICTORIA, July 24.—The schooner Wanderer arrived from Sand point yesterday afternoon with the catches of several British sealing schooners, totaling 5520 skins. A syndicate of four sent the Wanderer to Sand point for the purpose of securing the catch of the schooners before entering Behring sea. The catch of twenty-one British and American schooners at Sand point was [illegible].

The catch of the American schooners is as follows: Lilly L. 520, Bessie Rutter 230, Mollie Adams 500, San Diego 500, C. S. Fowler 330, Annie I. Alger 353, J. H. Lewis 242.

An American cutter was at Sand point on the 20th of June, and left orders from the owners of the American schooners that their vessels were not to enter Behring sea.

No tidings have been heard of the schooners Annie, Otter and James Hamilton, and they are given up as lost.

FROM WALLA WALLA.

A Report That the Troops Are To Be Removed.

WALLA WALLA, July 24.—The people are much excited over a report that Fort Walla Walla will be abandoned, because there is not enough water for the horses and people. The water famine is caused by the waters of Garrison creek, running through the military reserve, being taken for irrigation by parties not having riparian rights. A public meeting of citizens was held and a committee appointed to take action against the water stealers. It is believed the matter will be satisfactorily settled.

Early this morning Frank Dawling, a barber confined in the city jail, dropped dead. Excessive drinking was the cause.

B. Morrison was working in a stone quarry, when a mass of rock caved in on him this morning, and his left hip was broken.

The Progressive Club has taken up the matter of rates on transportation of fruit to Puget sound, and have combined the fruit growers, who promise one or two carloads of fruit for Tacoma or Seattle shipment every day, if the railroad company will make a rate of 61 cents a hundred on carload lots. It is believed the railroad will meet the demand and make it possible to land Walla Walla fruit in Tacoma eighteen hours after picking.

A granger named Sam Evans was held up this morning by two hard cases, who robbed him of money and valuables. The men were arrested, but when the time of examination came Evans could not be found. He had been frightened away by friends of the garroters. A bench warrant was issued for Evans.

Coffman, a California hotel man, has offered to lease a hotel costing $150,000 and pay 6 per cent. on the net cost yearly, if the citizens will put up the hotel, Coffman to do the furnishing at a cost of $30,000.

Terminal Facilities for Spokane.

SPOKANE FALLS, W. T., July 24.—Articles of incorporation have been filed by A. M. Cannon, Paul F. Mohr and Charles J. Smith, organizing the Union Depot Company of Spokane Falls, with a capital stock of $500,000. The object is to construct railway passenger and freight depots, warehouses, roundhouses, machine shops, cattle yards, grain elevators, side tracks, steamer tracks, and to make any other constructions necessary for railroad terminals, and to carry on the business of a railway terminal company; to provide railway terminal facilities at or near Spokane; to construct and maintain telegraph and telephone lines, and bridges. A. M. Cannon, John R. Allen, Charles J. Smith and Edward [illegible] are named as trustees to manage the business until December, 1889. The principal office is to be in Spokane Falls, but the articles provide that they may have an office also in New York city.

Tacoma Notes.

TACOMA, July 24.—"Sunset" Cox and wife arrived in Tacoma this evening.

Mrs. Minnie Allen, the notorious thief, was sentenced to-day by Judge Allen to four years in the Walla Walla penitentiary.

A Child Killed by Drinking Boiling Water.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 24.—Charlie, the two and a half year old son of Paul Frank Saanich, drank a cup of boiling water yesterday, and died in great agony.

Death From Heart Disease.

ALBANY, Or., July 24.—Herman Diercks, proprietor of a restaurant here, died suddenly this evening of heart disease.

Watterson at the Poker Table.

Washington Capital.

A number of gentlemen were gathered at Chamberlain's telling poker stories the other day, when one of them said: "One of the nerviest pieces of poker I ever saw in this city was played not long ago in a room at the Arlington Hotel, where several gentlemen, well-known in national politics, were in the party. All the hands had been dealt and about $500 were in the pot before the draw. Only two stayed in. They were General Mahone and Colonel Henry Watterson. General Mahone held two pair and drew one card. Watterson stood pat. Mahone bet an even $100. Watterson saw the $100 and raised him $500. Mahone saw that amount and raised it another $100. Watterson saw that and raised it $1000. Mahone laid down and asked Watterson to let him see the cards, but Henry said 'no; if you want to see what I have you must pay for it,' and he raked in the pot. Afterward he told his friends just what he had. It was a cool bluff, and he hadn't a card in his hand higher than a queen, but it took several thousand dollars of the Virginia gentleman's money through using his nerve at the proper time.

NEW COAL DISCOVERIES.

Another Large Deposit Found on the Santiam.

Albany Herald.

William McKinnon, who lives up the South Santiam several miles above Sweet Home, about 45 miles from Albany, is in the city. He has made what seems destined to prove a valuable coal discovery. The coal deposit, which has only been opened a few feet below the surface, is situated in Canyon creek, and gives evidence of being an enormous vein. Mr. McKinnon, who runs a blacksmith shop, and is familiar with coal, says it is better than the average blacksmith's coal bought in the market, and he has recently been taking it out and using it in his forge. He has taken out bushels of it, and says it burns splendidly, makes a fine welding heat, and leaves very little cinders. He now uses no other coal in his forge.

The deposit is situated about 500 yards from the main wagon road, and, Mr. McKinnon thinks, is the most valuable coal discovery ever made in the Santiam region. Several coal deposits have been made in various places along the Santiam, but nothing that equals this in quantity or can excel it in quality. Should a good working coal mine be unearthed in that region it would be more valuable than a gold mine, and it would seem that this discovery of Mr. McKinnon's might be developed into such a mine.

THE OREGON PACIFIC.

Work Stopped Again by Attachment of Property of Contractors.

Salem Statesman.

A gentleman from the upper country who was in the city yesterday informed a Statesman reporter that the whole force of men on the extension of the O. P. had been withdrawn from work, with the exception of a few Chinamen. He also stated that the tunnel which was planned to be cut through a portion of the Cascade mountains had been abandoned, and that the engineers had figured out a way of getting around it by a little circuitous work. The obstruction to progress in building the road at the present time is caused by the attachments which are hanging over a large amount of property and supplies belonging to contractors. There seems to be an unfortunate fatality in the way of that road being built with any degree of rapidity. Every year something occurs whereby half the best working season is wasted, and then, just about the time a good force of men is secured, the contractors fail, lawsuits are commenced, the men are thrown out of employment and there is Jessie to pay all around. Everybody in the valley has a warm side for the O. P. railroad in a business way, and it is really unfortunate that its completion across the mountains should be retarded by so many untoward circumstances.

One and one-sixteenth miles—Keynote won in 1:50½, Bordelaise second, Specialty third.

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL LINES.

No Agreement Yet Reached on Canadian Differentials.

CHICAGO, July 24.—The proposition of the Southern Pacific railroad to guarantee the Canadian Pacific 6 per cent. of the Pacific roads' traffic and abolish its differentials was considered to-day by the executive committee of the Transcontinental Association. The only agreement that could be reached was to recommend a reduction of the differentials and report. That, in effect, was submitted to the general meeting, but the Southern Pacific refused to accept it. That road [illegible] that its proposition must be accepted or it will [illegible] out of the association, which would make matters worse.

The Denver & Rio Grande Western road demanded a differential rate on transcontinental traffic on the ground that it is a [illegible] gauge road. This demand was referred to a special committee, no conclusion with regard to the matter under consideration was reached, and the meeting adjourned until to-morrow.

The passenger department adopted a resolution making a rate of one fare for the round trip for veterans attending the G. A. R. encampment at Milwaukee.

AN EMBEZZLER ESCAPES.

He Was Arrested in Chili and Was En Route to New York.

NEW YORK, July 24.—A dispatch was received at the police headquarters to-night, as follows:

LIMA, July 21.

Inspector Byrnes, New York: Prisoner escaped at Iquique Friday. Recapture impossible. Instruct the United States minister at Lima. REILLY.

The prisoner is William A. Bushnell, alias Gerald F. Hanson, the absconding bookkeeper of Cutler, Stillman & Hubbard, who was arrested at Santiago, Chili, last December, by Detective Reilly, of this city, and who was on his way back here in Reilly's custody. Ten years ago he hypothecated securities valued at $30,000 belonging to the above named law firm and fled. Then, under the name of Hanson, he was appointed general [illegible] of the West Coast Telephone Company in Santiago, where he moved in the best society. He embezzled $5,000, but was so popular there that no jury would convict him. It was then found that Bushnell and Hanson were the same person, and Inspector Byrnes had him arrested on the first charge. It was with great difficulty that he was extradited.

MARTIN BURKE, THE SUSPECT.

A Possible Clue Found to the Source of the Money Furnished Him.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Ever since Martin Burke was arrested in Winnipeg and began his fight against extradition, the authorities have been puzzling themselves with the question as to where he got the money necessary to conduct his case in the manner it was.

It was asserted to-day that it was learned by State's Attorney Longenecker that a man known to be a close friend of a prominent Clan-na-Gael man in Chicago appeared in Winnipeg Saturday. On Monday Burke's lawyers began the movement for habeas corpus, which had been unaccountably delayed. A large sum of money was required for the move, and there was no intimation before that it would be forthcoming. It is inferred by the state's attorney and others in authority here that there must be some connection between the arrival of the Chicagoan and the beginning of the delayed proceedings.

It is said that the detectives are looking into the matter, but Longenecker will not give the name of the suspected person, as he says the man might have been in Winnipeg on legitimate business.

A STRAWBOARD TRUST.

Twenty-six Mills Embraced in the Combination.

[illegible], July 24.—The strawboard makers of the country have [illegible] into one mammoth company. [illegible] Newcomb, of the Quincy, Ill., mill, [illegible] the existence of the trust, and says its name is "The American Strawboard Company." Twenty-six mills are embraced in the combination, [illegible] sections of the country. It also [illegible] the largest dealers in strawboard, who practically control the trade.

Mr. Newcomb says that the trust intends to conduct its business so that the production shall not exceed the demand, and will be satisfied with fair profits.

A Fatal Fire-damp Explosion.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 24.—This afternoon, while a number of men were removing rock and coal from chambers of the Central mine, at Hyde park, by a careless use of the lamp of one of the laborers, ignited the fire-damp gas and a frightful explosion followed. John Williams and Robert Roberts were killed and four others frightfully burned.

EDITORS HOMEWARD BOUND

The Nebraska Press Excursion on the Columbia and at the Beach.

They Found Much to Interest Them on the Trip—A Visit to a Salmon Cannery—Off for Their Homes.

A happier crowd of excursionists than those who boarded the elegant steamer T. J. Potter at the Ash street wharf, Tuesday morning, bound for Ilwaco and the beach, have not left Portland for a long time. The excursion was composed of about forty members of the Nebraska Press Excursion, the rest of the party and one Pullman coach remaining to leave for home Tuesday evening.

The party had just arrived from Tacoma in the morning, after "doing" the larger cities on the Sound. All were in the best of spirits and aglow with the happy anticipation of a ride on the lordly Columbia, the queen river of the Pacific coast. The trip was an enjoyable one, and the party found much to admire. The steamer glided along like a floating palace, while the excursionists, seated on the two decks, at the cabin windows, in the pilot house and on every other point of vantage, viewed the beautiful scenery passing like a panoramic view on either side of them.

Expressions of admiration and wonderment were heard from all. Some found much to admire in the vast forests extending from both banks of the river as far as the eye could see; others were occupied viewing the mountains looming up in the distance, until their tops were lost in the misty clouds, enclosing the valley like two huge walls.

All spoke in the most glowing terms of the river. "It is a grand river, a grand river," said many; others could only shake their heads in wonderment, words failing to express their feelings.

The many steamers and fishing boats met en route were saluted with the fluttering of handkerchiefs. Even the mottled sky, with colored, fleecy clouds floating leisurely about, and the cool, invigorating atmosphere, seemed to add to the happiness of the occasion and to the enjoyment of the excursionists.

The excursionists resolved themselves into a question box, as a committee of the whole, while the officers of the boat naturally were appealed to as fountains of information. Not only questions were asked, but conundrums, as difficult of solution as the riddle of the Egyptian sphynx, were propounded with a sublime forgetfulness of the fact that even officers of boats are not endowed with the special intuition to solve the mysterious and the incomprehensible. "What is it?" "How is it?" and "Why is it?" were the questions asked, with looks of the most bland inquiry. But then, that is what the Nebraska editors were out for. They were seeing the country, and wanted information. The genial Captain Pease, of the boat in charge, Captain Pope at the wheel, the mate, purser, and all the other officers of the boat treated the editors with the utmost courtesy, and made all to feel at home. All places of interest or connected with historical associations, were pointed out to those eager for information. Meals were served on the boat, and all spoke highly of the excellent cuisine.

A short stop was made at Astoria, the city of fish and ships, and another at Tansy point. Here the river broadening out into a great sheet of water, until it looks like an inland sea, gave the excursionists renewed incentive for expressing their surprise. They found much to interest them in the fish traps, near the mouth of the Columbia and throughout Baker's bay. The modus operandi of these contrivances was explained to them to their entire satisfaction and they only felt sorry for the hapless fish that encountered them.

BY THE DEEP, DEEP SEA.

The boat arrived at Ilwaco a little before 4 o'clock. The excursionists took the train for the beach, some stopping off at Stout's, and others at the East Portland camp, or Tinker's station. Here the grand old Pacific burst upon their vision, and the ceaseless roaring of the waves made music for their ears. The sea was a little rough, and the white caps breaking over each other in their tumultuous rush towards the land made a grand sight. The party broke up. Some sat down on the sand to listen to the music of the waves, others strolled along the beach in search of shells and "gems of purest ray serene," while the more daring among the crowd began to make preparations for taking a bath in the surf. Some put their hands into the water and walked away with the verdict "Ugh! but it is cold!" Only half a dozen ventured to go in. They saw the campers at the beach rush into the water with reckless abandon and, remembering that they were Nebraska editors with a reputation to sustain, they decided to go in or die in the attempt. They had braved storms and blizzards, and had chased grasshoppers with good success, and why should they show the white feather when it comes to taking a cold plunge. They went in. One step—two steps—three steps—a huge breaker rolled over them, filling their eyes and mouths with water flavored with chloride of sodium, and they were ready to retire. But they did not retire. A shouting crowd on shore spurred them on to still further martyrdom. The water, however, felt warmer after they had been in a while, and they had an excellent bath.

The greater number of the party returned to the boat to sleep in their state rooms, while a few, unable to get back, remained at the hotels for the night.

THE RETURN TRIP.

Yesterday morning at 5 o'clock the boat pulled out. Arriving at Astoria, the party were met by members of the Board of Trade, representatives of the press, and citizens in general, who took them through one of the largest canneries in the place. The boat stopped half an hour to give them an opportunity to look over the large establishment and to see the entire process of canning salmon, from the time the fish is taken from the rack and cleaned until the label and wrapper is put on the can, ready for shipment. It was an interesting and novel sight. The manager of the cannery (the Astoria Packing Company) kindly gave many of the ladies sample cans of salmon as souvenirs of their visit. Paul Wessel, jr., the chairman of the excursion, received a box of salmon, containing four dozen cans, with the compliments of the firm, just as the last boat was ready to pull out.

VALE, EDITORS, VALE.

The excursion arrived in Portland at 5 o'clock. Lunch was taken. A few stopped to buy Oregon fruit to send to their homes, while the others strolled about the city until 8 o'clock, when all again met at the O. R. & N. Co.'s depot. The train wheeled away at 8:30 and the editors are now on their homeward journey.

They left with the happiest remembrances of Oregon and hospitable Oregonians. Their expressions of praise of all they had seen were enthusiastic and sincere, and they feel grateful for the many courtesies they have received at the hands of the people.

Oregon needs no better advertisers than the excursionists who left last night, for they have seen the country and will know whereof they speak.

RECOMMENDING APPROPRIATIONS.

The Work of Improving the Entrances to Coos and Yaquina Bays.

From Chief Clerk J. C. Shofner, of Captain Young's office, United States engineers, it is learned that the statement in yesterday's dispatches, that Captain Young had recommended an appropriation of $250,000 for this year's work on improving the entrance to Coos bay, and $75,000 for Yaquina bay, was perfectly correct.

Owing to a change in the project for the improvement of Yaquina bay, the cost will not be nearly so much as at first estimated. Instead of extending the south jetty away out into deep water, it was deemed better to build another on the north side nearly parallel, leaving a comparatively narrow entrance. There is a reef of rocks a short distance out, and it was found that if the jetties were extended out toward this a bar would be formed there which would obstruct the entrance.

At Coos bay a large expenditure will be required to make a straight channel. As regards the depth of water on the bar, Coos bay is now one of the best harbors on the coast, having twenty-four feet. The work of expending a $75,000 appropriation there has lately been commenced by Contractor P. O'Neil. When this is finished the $250,000 will be expended in running the jetty out far enough to give the current a course which will sweep out a straight channel, thus greatly improving the entrance.

REGIMENTAL NOTES.

"Bad luck to this marching,
Pipe-claying and starching—"

Drilling and all other military duty is a wearisome thing to most of the companies of the First regiment, [illegible] of the soul and body, in hot weather, [illegible] O. N. G., have been doing much work since the Fourth, and it is probable that Colonel [illegible] will shortly dispense with regular company drills until the middle of September, by which time the companies will be ready to enter on the winter campaign with renewed energy.

Some of the boys want the regiment to go into camp in some pleasant place for a week or so, to give them a taste of life in the field. Others wish a regimental excursion to the coast, to leave here Thursday and return Monday morning, taking along the band. Whether either of these plans will be adopted is doubtful.

MONMOUTH NOTES.

"Citizen," writing from Monmouth, Polk county, says:

Threshing is now under way and the yield of grain is good, especially wheat.

Active work on the new State Normal school building begins this week, and will be pushed rapidly to completion.

The surveyors on the Albany & Tillamook railroad reached here to-day. This line runs through the east part of the corporate limits of the town. Our citizens hail this proposed new line with delight. It will be a great benefit to this county when built.

BUDGET OF ALBINA NEWS.

An Adjourned Meeting of the Municipal Lawmakers.

Into New Quarters—Crowding Work—Good Appointment—Swimming Nuisance—Contested Case.

An adjourned meeting of the city council of Albina was held Tuesday evening at the council chambers, Mayor McLaughlin in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

COMMUNICATIONS, PETITIONS, ETC.

A communication from Surveyor Hurlburt was ordered placed on file.

A petition to change the grade on Kirby street was referred to the committee on streets and public property.

The petition of A. Johnsten for thirty days' extension of time for the improvement of San Antonio and Sacramento streets; granted.

The petition of J. N. Tomlinson for thirty days' extension of time on the improvement of Abernathy avenue; granted.

The communication from Marly and Schrantz was read and ordered placed on file.

The petition for the improvement of Knott street was read, and on motion of Kraeft to grant, and amended by Knox, to be laid over until the next meeting, so as to consult city engineer.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Report on the communication of E. C. Lakin, in regard to laying water pipes into houses from the East Portland mains, now in Albina, was indefinitely postponed.

Report on the petition of G. W. Lakin, for city surveyor, reported unfavorable, as there was not a vacancy in the office of city surveyor, and not likely to be.

The committee on streets and public property, to whom was referred the petition of C. H. Prescott and Ellis G. Hughes, asking to have the grade established on Tillamook and Seventh streets, in Irving's addition to Albina, and have the same improved, respectfully recommended that the petition be not granted.

Report of the committee on the purchase of a strip of land fifty feet in width by 171 feet in length, for a street: referred to the finance committee.

The tax list for San Antonia was adopted and the police judge instructed to furnish a copy to the treasurer.

On motion of Kraeft, the police judge was requested to ascertain the proper wages for viewers.

On the relation of assessment and taxes; read third time and passed.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On motion, the finance committee was authorized to enter into contract with Peter Lynch for the purchase of a piece of land for the extension of Cardwell street north from Morris street.

On motion, the committee on streets and public property was authorized to enter into a contract with M. H. Murphy for the improvement of Cardwell street.

On motion of Rieman, the city surveyor be instructed to establish grades on Mississippi and Michigan avenues, in Multnomah addition; Davis street to Beech street; to north line of Central Albina; Beech street the full length.

On motion of Kraeft, the city surveyor be instructed to establish grades on Ash street and California avenue.

The mayor reappointed J. T. Hughes as police judge.

The council then adjourned to meet the 31st inst.

OTHER TOWN ITEMS.

A CONTESTED OFFICE.

Mr. George W. Heath has commenced suit against Theodore E. Kraeft in the circuit court of Oregon to contest the appointment of Kraeft as councilman at the late election held in Albina. Heath claims that he had a majority vote, although it was decided a tie between him and Kraeft in the Second ward. In this case, the mayor appointed Kraeft as councilman. In the Third ward the case was similar, a tie, being between Ross and Mooney. The mayor appointed the last named as councilman. This will be quite an interesting case, and will be a test. Heath claims, that illegal voting was done; and Kraeft claims the same. Further light may be thrown on the subject when brought into court.

A LARGE UNDERTAKING.

The work on the large grain elevator is progressing finely. The scene around the place presents a live bee hive. Over 200 men are employed and more are in demand to push the building through before the rainy season. The lumber is piled around until it looks like an immense lumber yard. Men are busily engaged in framing massive timbers to be raised into position. The walls are made of 2x8 planks laid flat, and is now sixty feet high, a little less than half the height desired. It is expected to have the elevator completed in about two months.

SHOULD BE STOPPED.

Now that the free swimming bathhouse will soon be opened to the public, it is hoped that an ordinance will be passed prohibiting anyone to bathe in the river within the city limits. Every evening the banks are lined with bathers of all sizes, who dive and cut up antics regardless of the many passengers who travel up and down the river. After this there should certainly not be any excuse for any one to bathe in the river, when the swimming baths will be the most suitable and safest place to go to enjoy a swim.

PUSHING THE WORK.

A great number of men are employed by the Electric Railway Company to raise the necessary poles along the route for the wires, and in driving the piling for the bridge over Goldsmith street, now commenced. This company has given an order to the Albina sawmills to furnish them with [illegible] ties within fifteen days. This is said to be sufficient to lay five miles of railway track on. It is expected that the cars will be running by the first of November.

AN APPOINTMENT MADE.

Mr. John T. Hughes, who has held the position of recorder ever since Albina has been incorporated, and under the revised charter became police judge, was appointed by Mayor McLaughlin at the last council meeting to continue in that office. A better appointment could not have been made, for Mr. Hughes has been an efficient and an accommodating officer, and has dealt out justice with an impartial hand.

RETURNED.

Rev. W. O. Forbes has just returned from a prolonged trip East. Mr. Forbes was elected to represent the Presbytery of Oregon at the general assembly of the Presbytery of the United States, held last May at New York city. He enjoyed his trip very much. Mrs. Forbes has also returned from her visit to Eugene City. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Forbes will be glad to hear of their return.

NEW QUARTERS.

The city dads have just moved into their new council chamber on Goldsmith street. The chamber is fitted up neatly, and altogether with its railing, table, chairs and solemn faced councilmen in conclave it presents a very judicial appearance.

WILL DONATE.

Mr. A. Bacon, the expressman, wears a bandage over his mouth. It is not as some may suppose, that he has been in a prize fight, but instead he has a pet boil on his lip which requires all his time and a great deal of skillful nursing.

A NEW BANK BUILDING.

Messrs. Paquet and Smith have had the plans and specifications for a large two-story brick building and a basement, to be built on their property, corner of Goldsmith and Harding streets. The bids are now out.

REPAIRING.

A large pile of planking has been hauled on Russell street to repair and replace the old planks on the road.

SCARLET FEVER.

A red flag is hung out on the residence of Mr. Nichols, signifying scarlet fever in the family.

MEAGER COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Defendants Allowed Further Time—Police Commission Case—Before Judge Tanner.

In the case of the Washburn & Moen Manufacturing Company vs. Knapp, Burrell & Co. et al., in the United States circuit court, an order was made yesterday allowing defendants further time until August 5 to show cause. The suit was brought to restrain defendants from selling a certain kind of barbed wire for fencing which it is claimed is an infringement of a patent belonging to plaintiffs. A restraining order was granted some time since to prevent plaintiffs from selling more of this wire, and this order is still in force.

JUDGE TANNER'S JUDICIAL [illegible].

H. H. Feldbusch was arraigned in the police court yesterday on two charges, one of assaulting his wife, and another of threatening to kill her. When the deputy district attorney started in to read the information against the prisoner, the latter interrupted him, saying, "My wife says she won't prosecute me."

"I do not care what your wife says," retorted Mr. Simon. And, after finishing the reading of the two complaints, he concluded: "Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"Of course I'm not guilty. The papers reported the case altogether wrong. I never assaulted my wife, neither did I threaten to kill her." Turning to the court, he said, "Can't you fix my bonds, for I can't stop in the city jail any longer. It is full of vermin (this is without doubt true) and I have to pace the floor all night."

"I cannot help it that vermin are in the city jail," replied the court. "If you cannot bear them you should not do anything that warrants your arrest." Eventually his bail was fixed at $120 on both charges.

The following minor cases were then rapidly disposed of: Richard Roe and Ky Ross, simple drunks, $2 each; Joseph McNamara, Martin Hogan, Dan McLaughlin, drunks, $10 each; John W. Joyce, George Allen, drunks, $5 each; Buck Flynn, same, ten days; J. A. Lindsey, disorderly conduct, $5; Ah Won, obstructing the sidewalk, forfeited $5; William Shelebaum, trespass, $10; Chong Quong, disorderly conduct, $10; W. R. Vincent, building a fire on the street, $5; P. S. Haefner, posting bills on telegraph poles, $10.

THE POLICE COMMISSION CASE.

The police commission case will come up before Judge Shattuck this morning. District Attorney McGinn will appear to show cause why he has not begun quo warranto proceedings to establish Richard Everding's title to the office.

WEDNESDAY'S DOCKET.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

The Washburn and Moen Manufacturing Company vs. Knapp, Burrell & Co., et al.; order allowing defendants until August 5, 1889, to show cause.

"DATE BACK, TO 'KIVER' ACCIDENTS."

How They Did 67 Years Ago—An Ancient Marriage Certificate.

Mr. George Ross, of East Portland, has an extract clipped from an old paper which shows how they united people in matrimony sixty-seven years ago. The following is a verbatim copy of the extract:

Mr. Ira Claflin, of this place, has in his possession a copy of a marriage certificate bearing date of 1822 and issued by one O. M. Ross, who was at that time a new commissioned justice of the peace in and for the county of Peoria, Illinois.

Mr. Claflin states that at that time (1822) the county of Peoria embraced a large scope of territory, and that it has since been divided up into at least a dozen counties. In all this territory there was not a justice of the peace, a minister, nor in fact any person qualified to perform the marriage ceremony.

This man (O. M. Ross) had, however, petitioned the governor of Illinois to appoint him to the position of justice of the peace, and had received news that his petition had been granted, but his commission had not arrived. In the meantime John Smith and Polly Meyers wanted to marry, and called on Ross and wanted him to tie the knot. He did so and the following is a verbatim copy of the marriage certificate, which Mr. Claflin copied from the records of Peoria county:

MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE.

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
COUNTY OF PEORIA.

To all the World, Greeting: Know ye that John Smith and Polly Meyers is hereby entitled to go together and do as old folks does anywhare inside of Copperas precinct, and when my commission comes I am to marry 'em, and date back to kiver accidents.

O. M. ROSS, J. P.

VISITED THE CLACKAMAS HATCHERY.

A Party Hold a Picnic at the Place and Have a Very Pleasant Time.

A party of eighteen, including two young ladies from California, for whose entertainment the affair was arranged, had a very pleasant picnic at the hatchery on the Clackamas, Tuesday. The party was in charge of Councilman Farrell and Mr. R. Scott, of Milwaukie. They were shown every attention by the persons in charge at the hatchery, and spent a very enjoyable day looking at the salmon in the pool, playing lawn tennis and discussing the good things provided, among which was a bountiful supply of ice cream, and Devonshire cream, furnished by Mrs. Scott. Police Commissioner R. Everding was unable to go, so there was a large quantity of [illegible], half a dozen chickens, half a bushel of potatoes, two boxes of peaches, a leg of lamb and lots of other things, including the dishes, were not eaten, and had to be brought back.

Councilman Farrell reports a large number of salmon in the pool, which have lately come up and are bright, clean healthy fish, and have not their noses eaten off as the fish in the pool last year had. He thinks that by the time hatching begins, there will be plenty of fish to furnish all the eggs desired.

DOGS POISONED—BURGLARIES.

A Small Raid in the South End—Look Out for Shotguns.

A few days since a number of dogs in the southern part of the city were poisoned simultaneously, and some of the old residents said, "Now look out for burglars," as several years since dogs were poisoned in the same manner in that locality, and a series of petty burglaries followed.

There have been quite a number of houses which have been entered there since the dogs were done away with, the burglar or burglars not making any very large hauls. Tuesday night the burglar visited the residence of Dr. Pilkington, and got away with the trousers of Mr. Harold Pilkington, containing his loose change and also took his watch. The bold burglar probably knew that the doctor was away from home, as the last time a burglar called there he was at home, and filled the fellow's back with bird shot, and he was arrested, convicted, and sentenced to nine years in the penitentiary, where he died.

The people at the south end are providing themselves with shotguns, and will go a gunning for any night prowlers seen around their residences, and it is hoped some of them may have as good success as did Dr. Pilkington. The south end is somewhat sparsely settled, and the police are few and far between there, so every one should keep a bright lookout.

ENLISTED MEN SELECTED.

To Represent the Department in the Competition of "Distinguished Marksmen."

The following special order, under date of July 19, has been issued by General Gibbon:

In compliance with the provisions of general orders No. 42, current series, headquarters of the army, adjutant general's office, the following enlisted men are selected to represent the department in the competition of "distinguished marksmen," to be held at the Bellevue rifle range, near Omaha, Neb., commencing on August 27, prox., viz:

For the competition in which the rifle is used, First Sergeant Ludwig Reper, Company F, Fourth infantry.

For the competition in which the carbine is used, Sergeant Morrow [illegible], Troop B, Second cavalry; Sergeant Adam Dell, Troop F, Second cavalry.

Post commanders will send these selected marksmen from their respective stations in time to report to the commanding general, department of the Platte, not later than August 21, and will forward their descriptive lists and accounts of pay and clothing to headquarters department of the Platte, four days prior to their departure.

Each competitor will take with him his service rifle or carbine complete equipments, dress and fatigue uniforms and necessary blankets.

RIVERS AND HARBORS.

Further Extracts From Captain Young's Report.

THE WORK THAT HAS BEEN DONE

The Attorney-General Decides That Chinese Laborers May Pass Through the United States—Other Capital News.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—In his report to the war department concerning river and harbor improvements in Oregon, Captain Willard Young, engineer in charge, says:

The jetty at the mouth of the Coquille river thus far constructed is temporary in character, and will need to be strengthened throughout most of its length. To insure the projected eight-foot channel at low water over the bar the present jetty will have to be extended, and a jetty on the north side of the entrance will have to be added. The sum of $75,000 can be profitably expended during the next fiscal year.

On improvement to the entrance to Coos bay, Captain Young says: It is expected that the jetty will be extended, and that its top throughout will be raised to two feet above low water. The first work to be done is to lay a proper foundation course of stone on the line of the proposed extension. This is needed to prevent the bottom from scouring out, and so to keep the cross section of the jetty as small as possible. Most, if not all, of the stone needed for the extension can be dumped from scows.

The sum of $250,000 can be profitably expended during the next fiscal year.

It was estimated at the time the work was suspended, in August, 1888, on the improvement of the Umpqua river that $15,000 would be required to complete the present project. This amount was appropriated on August 11, 1888. Work under this appropriation will be resumed early in June, and will consist, as heretofore, in drilling and blasting the rock ledges and removing broken pieces from the deeper water to the fifty-foot channel.

In the work of improving the entrance to Yaquina bay, it is expected that the south jetty will be entirely completed this season, and that the north jetty will be partly completed for a length of about 1000 feet. Any future appropriation will be applied in completing the north jetty, in accordance with the approved project. The sum of $75,000 can be profitably expended during the next fiscal year.

Future operations on the improvement of Tillamook bay and bar will be devoted largely to the advancement of lumber interests involved. There are, according to Captain Young's report, large bodies of the finest kind of timber on and tributary to the bay. It is, therefore, probable that the lumbering districts which will grow out of this will demand the improvement both of the bar and of the channels in the bay. At present the demand is for a better channel from the lower bay to Tillamook City. The sum of $50,000 could be profitably expended in one year in dredging and in the construction of dykes for this purpose.

The work of examining and surveying the Siuslaw river and bar, the Clackamas river, the Tualatin river, Nehalem bay and bar, Young's river and its tributary, the Klaskanine river, and that portion of the Umpqua river between Scottsburg and the mouth and between Scottsburg and Hart's rapids near Elkton, is still in progress and the results cannot now be given.

CHINESE MAY PASS THROUGH.

An Important Ruling by the United States Attorney General.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The attorney general has given the secretary of the treasury an opinion to the effect that there is no legal objection to transit through the United States of the Chinamen recently arrived at New Orleans from Cuba, en route to China via San Francisco. The Chinese minister has asked that these men be permitted to cross the United States on their way home, and it is probable, in view of the attorney general's opinion, that his request will be granted. This opinion is in accord with the opinion given by Solicitor Hepburn upon the same question some weeks ago, which, however, was not accepted by the treasury department.

Attorney-General Miller was asked this afternoon to explain his decision further, and he said: "As to the Scott exclusion act, that does not cover the case at all. That only deals with Chinese laborers desiring to make a visit to China, or who are there and desire to return, or of laborers who are coming to this country for the first time. But it does not say a word about Chinese passing through the United States from port to port, either coming from or going to China. Therefore I could not see how the Chinese at New Orleans can be prevented from passing through, or any others on the same mission."

"Will the roads that carry the Chinamen through the country be required to give a bond that these people do not stop off en route, and if so, how much per capita?" was asked of the attorney general.

"That question I was not called upon to decide," he answered.

"Well, in the event of these people being allowed to pass through, what security does the government have that they will not stop off and become citizens?" was the next question.

"That is a question for the treasury department, and which they can cover by some suitable regulation, and does not come within my province."

At the treasury department nothing could be ascertained beyond the fact that the decision had been received.

Acting Secretary Batcheller decided not to make it public until Secretary Windom returned from New York, and to then allow him to promulgate it. Batcheller does not coincide with the attorney general, as noted in the first dispatches, and believes that this decision is virtually a repeal of the anti-Chinese laws. He declined to submit to an interview on the subject to-day.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

Charges Brought Against the Pension Bureau and the Sixth Auditor's Office.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt said to-day that charges had been brought against both the pension office and the Sixth auditor's office, and that men had been discharged because they were democrats. He was not prepared to say that this was a violation of the law, but individually he was firmly of the opinion that it was in violation of the spirit of the law. He thought that no one, unless he happened to be an active partisan, should be dismissed from the public service for such a cause. He said that the commission was going to look at the matter, not only relating to the present, but the past as well.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

A Request for Arms for Alaska.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 24.—The governor of Alaska has requested the officials of the war department to furnish the territory with 250 stands of arms, with which to equip the territorial militia. There is no record of the existence of any militia in Alaska, but inasmuch as the war department will be secured against loss, the arms will probably be issued in accordance with the request.

Death of the Oldest Priest in the Country.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Rev. Father Curley, director of the Georgetown university, died in this city to-day. He was the oldest living priest in the United States, and so far as known, in the world.

Pension Notes.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Pensions have been granted the following: Oregon—Increase, Daniel [illegible]. Washington territory—Original invalid, James P. McMahon.

A MYSTERIOUS CASE.

The Bodies of Three Men Discovered in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 24.—A report is current, but not authenticated, that early this morning the bodies of three men, one colored and two white, were found near Whiting Station, Lake county. Who they are, where they came from and how they came there no one knows. The most plausible theory is that they were stockmen passing through with a load of livestock and perhaps tramps on the train committed the deed and threw the bodies off in order to allay suspicion. The bodies were found close together between the tracks of the B. & O. and Lake Shore railways.

Boston's Future Congressman.

Member from Massachusetts (rising to address the chair)—Mr. Speaker, I [illegible] to this [illegible] motion to adjourn, for the reason that—

The Speaker (mildly interrupting)—The gentleman from Massachusetts is out of order. A motion to adjourn is not debatable.

Member from Massachusetts (fiercely)—I reckon the rules kin be suspended, can't they.

The Speaker—By unanimous consent, of course.

Member from Massachusetts ([illegible] his coat)—[illegible].

The Speaker (becoming hasty)—The chair hears no objection.

A Desperado Killed.

ST. LOUIS, July 24.—The latest news from Indian territory is to the effect that a desperado, Lopki, was killed last Saturday by the captain of the Creek Indian light horse company. Lopki was the most desperate desperado in the territory. He was [illegible], while under arrest and in irons, murdered Deputy United States Marshal Phillips a year ago, by beating him down with his handcuffs. One of the light horse company was mortally wounded in the fight before Lopki was killed.

Shot His Sweetheart and Committed Suicide.

PERU, Ind., July 24.—At Alpena, a village a few miles south of Peru, this evening, Jess Overman shot and killed his sweetheart, Miss Maggie Smith, the daughter of a prominent physician, and then committed suicide. Jealousy is said to have been the cause.

Two Negroes Killed.

NEW ORLEANS, July 24.—A Times-Democrat Monroe, La., special says: After church last night, at Trenton, two negroes, Joe Cook and Sol Dorsey, engaged in a scuffle. Becoming angry, they both drew pistols and fired, and both were killed.

If you decide to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be persuaded to take any other. 100 doses $1.

REASONS FOR THEIR SUCCESS

Years of unvarying success in the treatment of all diseases and deformities that afflict humanity have won for the Drs. Darrin a far-famed reputation. Their system of electro-magnetic treatment is now recognized by well-informed people as the greatest in the world, and their success in curing diseases being nowhere equaled. This professional firm is composed of two eminent physicians, each one of whom has attained the highest degree of proficiency in his own specialties, being eminently qualified by special education and extensive experience for the particular department of practice to which he makes a specialty. The only way a doctor can become thoroughly successful is to devote himself to some special branch of his profession. Under the regular code of ethics this plan is almost impracticable; and doctors continue to make fatal blunders by endeavoring to practice more than they have ever learned. The Drs. Darrin have successfully solved the great problem and overcome all these difficulties in their extensive business by their method treatment. In addition to a thorough course in some of the best medical colleges in the country each one of the physicians has been trained in his own particular line by practical experience, under the direction of skillful specialists. Their experience is not limited to a few isolated conditions, as is so often the case with other doctors. They meet with and treat every imaginable complication of disease, and the experience thus gained, together with the constant study of their respective specialties, constitutes the natural groundwork of their unparalleled success.

Drs. Darrin's Place of Business.

Dr. Darrin can be consulted free at 235 Fifth street, corner of Main, Portland. Office hours, from 10 to 4 o'clock daily; evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 12. All curable chronic diseases, loss of manhood, blood taints, syphilis, gleet, gonorrhoea, stricture, spermatorrhoea, seminal weakness, or loss of desire of sexual power, in man or woman, catarrh and deafness, are confidentially and successfully treated. Cures of private diseases guaranteed, and never published in the papers. Most cases can receive home treatment after a visit to the doctors' office. Inquiries answered and circulars sent free.

PORTLAND, THURSDAY, JULY 25.

THE CASE OF CHEE GONG.

A strong effort is being made to save Chee Gong, who is sentenced to be executed on August 9 for the murder of Lee Yick on the night of November 6, 1887. The case is a notable one as illustrating the difficulty of meting out justice, where the accused is a Chinaman and the only witnesses are his own countrymen. Chee Gong has been twice tried and twice convicted, and yet so little reliance is placed upon Chinese testimony that Judge Thayer of the state supreme court has more than once said from the bench that if he was a juryman he would be loth to convict a Chinaman of murder upon Chinese testimony alone, because perjury to "remove" an odious countryman is so common among the rival factions of the Chinese. Many a Chinaman who will deal honorably and truthfully in business matters with an American will not hesitate in a matter that involves a fellow countryman to resort to perjury to save a friend or destroy an enemy. This seems to be the Chinese code among themselves, while in dealing with Americans in practical affairs they respect the American code and stand by it. In these circumstances the trial of a Chinaman, accused of a capital crime on the testimony of Chinese witnesses always present a case wherein it is difficult to be certain that justice has been done.

In every case where a Chinaman is tried for a capital crime the jury is confronted with a cloud of Chinese witnesses one half of whom will swear, without flinching, to an alibi for the accused, while the other half with equal earnestness and solemnity will swear to having seen the accused murder the victim. There have been cases even where the dying victim swore positively to the identity of his assassin, whose alibi was conclusively proved by the testimony of white witnesses of the highest character. The consequence is that the jury in such a case has a hard nut to crack. Few Chinamen high or low, are free from the suspicion of entire willingness to commit or procure perjury in any case in the decision of which they are materially or sentimentally interested. The jury of course, are the judges of the credibility of the testimony but the universal Chinese practice of an immoral code of procedure in trials under our law creates that feeling of distrust and doubt as to where justice lies that prompted the utterance of Judge Thayer.

In the trial of Chee Gong while some of the witnesses against him probably swore to much that they did not know, and to some things that were probably false, nevertheless the same spectacle of tainted testimony is visible on the other side, for we find that the Chinese doctor who proposed to swear if summoned, that Chee Gong was in his (the doctor's) room dictating a letter was ready to perjure himself since the policeman who promptly arrested Chee Gong found him in hiding. This habit of perjury on both sides of a Chinese case clouds the situation so hopelessly that it is really difficult for a jury to settle from the testimony of both sides on which side lies the guilt. Of course such a situation is unfortunate and most unsatisfactory to those who do not believe in hanging a man on what may be and quite probably is perjured testimony and yet to refuse to convict a Chinaman of murder upon Chinese testimony alone creates a situation equally unfortunate and unsatisfactory for, of course it is equivalent to telling Chinatown that no Chinese murderer will suffer death for his crime, if he only sees to it that there are none but Chinese witnesses to convict him.

It is natural that in these circumstances many citizens of worth and intelligence should ask for clemency to Chee Gong on the plea that in this situation of a possible and not improbable conviction through perjury, the principle should prevail, "Better that a guilty man should escape than an innocent man should suffer." And yet on the whole it does not seem to us sound public policy after a jury has twice tried and convicted Chee Gong of murder, to ask for clemency upon the ground of possible, if not probable perjury, for this very question of possible, if not probable perjury, was presented fully to the jury by the counsel on both sides, and they were in at least as good a position with the witnesses of both Chinese factions before them, to settle fairly the question of credibility as the governor can, after hearing the case retried by Seid Back, as counsel for Chee Gong, and reading a bundle of affidavits. It is true that justice does not wear an unclouded aspect in this case, and yet is not the public safer to let the court and jury, after two trials decide this question of credible and incredible testimony, than to affirm that no Chinaman should be convicted of a capital crime upon Chinese testimony alone?

It is a difficult situation at best, but if we accept the plea of Seid Back concerning the intrinsic worthlessness of Chinese testimony in Chinese quarrels rather than the judgment of the court and jury in two trials do we not dodge a possible miscarriage of justice at the risk of a general delivery of all Chinese murderers from the shadow of the scaffold. Except in cases of murder in the first degree little effort is made to rescue a Chinaman under sentence of the law. They do not seem to dread going to prison for life for homicide but no stone is left unturned to save a convict from the gallows and yet nothing short of the gallows will deter the murderous highbinders from repeating murders like that of Lee Yick and those which were perpetrated in the fatal street shooting affray that occurred last spring.

PROHIBITION NOT TEMPERANCE.

There are persons who ride temperance as a hobby and endeavor to maintain prohibition as temperance with intemperate speech. Such an one in Garfield county Washington, has written a letter to a delegate to the constitutional convention at Olympia, denouncing him as a traitor to the cause of temperance, because he has not insisted on putting prohibition into the constitution.

There are a good many of these hobbyists who think prohibition is temperance, use "temperance" and "prohibition" as synonymous terms, and can't imagine how a man can be a temperance man unless he is a prohibitionist. If he professes to be a temperance man and in fact, is a rigorous one both in precept and practice yet doesn't approve of prohibition as a principle and has sense enough to see that prohibition isn't effective and never can be he is denounced by these self styled temperance people of intemperate speech, as a hypocrite and a traitor.

These superficial and shallow people are just now worrying a great deal because prohibition, in the name of temperance is not to be ordained by the constitution of Washington. But it is too late in the day to claim for this effort of moral sciolism in the name of temperance any real consideration. The subject has been discussed from every possible standpoint during the last five years. In philosophy prohibition has been shown to be fatuous and false, experience has proven it a failure, and intelligent people generally have pronounced against it.

The threat that the constitution of Washington will be opposed and rejected because it does not ordain prohibition, is silly and impotent. If the people of Washington want prohibition they can have their legislature enact a law to that effect.

Constitution makers at Olympia are not disposed to be niggardly in the matter of salaries. Four thousand dollars a year to begin with, and a possibility of $6000 in the future is very fair remuneration for the governor of the state of Washington. This is one of the results of outliving the pioneer era and feeling able to meet accruing expenses in a liberal spirit before the added responsibilities of statehood are assumed. Oregon went to housekeeping for herself so to speak, when the appointments of her homes were primitive, and $1500 a year was a sum sufficient to meet the expenses of any family in the state. Washington on the contrary, has passed the period of tin cups bare floors and white muslin curtains and understands that it will be necessary for its executive to have a salary that will enable him to keep up with the times. Hence the liberality of the convention in fixing the salary limit.

THE WASHINGTON CONVENTION.

The committee on executive department in the convention at Olympia proposes a very full roster of state officials for Washington. The article as submitted creates a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor, attorney general, superintendent of public instruction and commissioner of public lands all of whom are to be elected by popular suffrage. Washington will need all these officials and it is just as well to name them in the constitution and define their duties and powers.

Liberal but not excessive salaries are proposed. The pay of each officer in a state ought to be sufficient to enable men of ability to accept official position without too great sacrifice of personal interests. Responsible service can be expected only in connection with honorable independence.

Section 17 of the article on the executive department is a sort of curiosity. It declares in substance that any governor who shall attempt to use his official power to influence the action of any member of the legislature, or who shall ask, receive or agree to receive any bribe shall be punished in the manner now or that may hereafter be provided by law, etc. Why a section like this should be inserted in a constitution is not clear. It can be made effective only by legislation, and a law would answer the purpose without the constitutional enactment.

The convention is making rapid progress, and the reports of committees so far indicate that the constitution will be, in the main an excellent one.

Every day furnishes evidence of the truth of the assertion that men are only children of larger growth. This, of course, is more particularly true of some men than of others, and one of its most common indications is seen in the fact that those of this class when in office will do what is expected of them when they are compelled to but not otherwise. The average boy, whose daily task is to split the kindling for the morning fire will shirk the job if he is allowed to do so but performs it with reasonable cheerfulness and alacrity when expressly called upon to do it. So with our chief of police in the matter of death certificates, burial permits and other details with which he is charged in connection with his position. He is prompt in seeing to such things when he is reminded of his duty. Perhaps after all the public, knowing this peculiarity of office holders and children is to blame for not speaking up more promptly. Not to be remiss and while upon the subject THE OREGONIAN begs to make its annual statement to the effect that thistle seed come to perfection rapidly in hot weather in serene defiance of the municipal law that ordains otherwise.

There will be a lively political contest under financial inspiration in Ohio this fall. Brice, the plutocratic chairman of the democratic national committee is going to try to carry the legislature so as to get for himself the seat in the United States senate that was bought last time with Standard Oil money for old man Payne. Brice himself is a multi-millionaire, and the Standard Oil Company will help him. Thus do we find the leadership of the democratic party combatting the plutocratic tendencies of the age.

Lives were lost in ten counties in Pennsylvania by the early summer floods. Of all the devastated towns Williamsport presents the most distressing problem for solution. The main industry of its 40 000 inhabitants is lumber. Every log has been swept away, the mills are idle and there can be but little work in them for a year. In the meantime a Pennsylvania winter must be met, and the people, though willing are powerless to provide themselves against its rigors.

Uncharitable people hint that the governor of Mississippi would have accomplished more in suppressing prize fighting or punishing pugilists within his borders if he had sandwiched a little action between his ante and post pugilistic proclamations, and not cut off his slices of talk so thick. In consideration of the fact that this is the picnic season such animadversions are allowed though strictly speaking they are not in good taste.

A great celebration of the fourth centenary of the discovery of America by Columbus is proposed in New York. The Sun takes the lead in urging the preparation, and offers $10 000 as a starter for a subscription. Though the time is yet three years distant the Sun urges that there is not more than time enough to make the preparations what they should be.

In telegraphing names strange results are sometimes produced. For example, the name of Colonel N H Owings of Olympia got into print in THE OREGONIAN recently as "Colonel U Howings."

One county alone in Georgia will ship to the North 1 500 000 watermelons. Our countrymen in that state want to show the North that they do not forget Sherman's march to the sea.

E P ROGERS, Asst. G. F. & P. Agt.

NOTICE THE PARTNERSHIP HERETOFORE existing between Greitz & Brown, of East Portland is this day mutually dissolved, the business will be conducted under the firm name of Greitz & [illegible], the latter becoming an equal partner in place of Mr Brown retiring; all accounts due to the old firm will be adjusted by W. F. [illegible]. East Portland, Or. July 22, 1889.

TO CONTRACTORS — NOTICE IS HEREBY given that the Board of County Commissioners of Snohomish County W. T., will, at their August term 1889 (about August 15), take definite action relating to the erection of a court house and jail for said county and that plans, specifications and bids will be received by them at that time, [illegible] to cost from $25 000 to $35,000. By order of the Board of County Commissioners of Snohomish County. W. FRED B LYSONS, Auditor and Ex-officio Clerk of said Board.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS—OFFICE OF THE Town Recorder, Medford, Or., Friday, July 19, 1889.—Sealed proposals addressed to R. F. [illegible], Town Recorder of the Town Board of Trustees for Medford, Jackson county, Or., and indorsed on the face of the envelope, "Proposals for the Construction of Water Works," will be received up to 8 P. M. Friday August 16, 1889, for the furnishing of materials and the construction of a system of water works consisting of the laying of about 4700 feet of [illegible] Converse lock joint pipe," together with the placing of one Dow duplex pump, having two cylinders six inches diameter and ten inches stroke [illegible] and the further construction of a tower for two tanks, said tanks to be of about 20,000 gallons capacity each. Plans and specifications can be seen at the recorder's office. The Town Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any and all bids. By order of the Town Board of Trustees for Medford, Jackson county, Oregon, the day and date above mentioned.
D. T. SEARS, Town Recorder.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS—SEALED PROposals will be received by the undersigned commissioners for the grading and construction of the Long Creek wagon road, commencing at the 44th mile post on said road in Umatilla county, Oregon, and following the present location to the 75th mile post in Grant county, Oregon.

Proposals will be received until Saturday, August 10, 1889 at 10 o'clock A. M., at which time they will be opened.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check or other good and sufficient guarantee of the sum of $1000 (one thousand dollars) that the bidder will within eight days after being notified of the acceptance of his proposal enter into contract with the commissioners of the Long Creek wagon road with the necessary bond and sureties for the faithful performance and completion of the work embraced in his proposal.

The work is laid out in 6 divisions, and will be let as a whole or any division or subdivision not less than two miles.

Camas Creek division embraces that part of the road to be constructed between the 44th and 49th mile posts.

Bridge Creek division, that portion between the 49th and 54th mile posts.

North Fork division that portion between the 54th and 58th mile posts.

Meadow Creek division, that portion between the 58th and 66th mile posts.

Granite Creek division, that portion between the 66th and 71st mile posts.

Middle Fork division, that portion between the 71st and 75th mile posts.

All bids must bear the name of the division desired, and must state rate per mile for grading and constructing said road as per plans and specifications on file at the county clerk's office, in Umatilla county, Oregon.

Further particulars can be obtained by calling on or writing to L. W. Loehr, superintendent, room 3, Villard House, Pendleton, Oregon.

The right to reject any or all bids is reserved by the commissioners, signed.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF.

Gathered by Reporters in Their Daily Round-up.

An Accident at Ilwaco—Scarcity of Workmen—Alaska Trade—A Lost Girl—Work on the Johnson Creek Sewer.

THE ALASKA TRADE.—The trade with Alaska is just beginning to attract the serious attention of Portland's business men. Two steamers are now running regularly on the Portland Alaska route and at the present writing all the freight is offered that they can conveniently carry. The development of the timber and mining in the interest of Uncle Sam's purchase is opening up a field which the Portland merchants are not slow in entering, and as this city is undoubtedly the natural trade center of this great territory, it is a field that Portland will most probably be able to hold for all time. A prominent citizen of Alaska, Mr. William Duncan, who for some time past has been the guest of Mr. W. Ladd, reports that trade in his section is fairly booming at the present time. While here he purchased a complete sawmill outfit from the well-known firm of Russell & Co., one of the largest machinery houses on the coast. This plant, which is probably the largest that has been shipped out of Portland during the present year, was shipped to Metlakahtla, its destination, on the G. W. Elder, which sailed for Sitka and way ports last night. From Mr. E. Hughes the Pacific coast manager of the business of Russell & Co., with headquarters at Portland, it is learned that this house is this year shipping out more machinery than ever before, and it is his earnestly expressed opinion that Portland at the present time should not neglect the opportunity offered of obtaining a firm foothold in the new field of Alaska, from which, if once firmly established, this city can never be dislodged.

A HITCH IN THE PROCEEDINGS.—There is some hitch in the proceedings for the transfer of the Oregonian railway lines to the Southern Pacific company. In the agreement in regard to the matter it was specified that the stockholders of the Oregonian Company should give quit-claim deeds to the Southern Pacific. They thought they could induce Mr. C. P. Huntington to give them $100 . . . if they refused to do this, and . . . Mr. Edmund Robertson, the gentleman who was out here once on business for the company, over to New York to endeavor to effect such an arrangement. In the mean time the indebtedness of the company, which the Southern Pacific was to assume, was bought up at a discount by some one, presumably in the interests of the company. Mr. Huntington said this was a violation of the agreement, and refused to pay anything more than at first agreed, and it now is uncertain whether the sale of the road to the Southern Pacific will be completed or not.

ACCIDENT AT ILWACO.—Tuesday evening, a 7 or 8-year-old son of Mr. Higgard, head sawyer at Ilwaco, met with a serious accident while out playing with his companions. The boys were playing on the turntable, when, in some manner, young Higgard's legs were caught in the gearing. The table was turning and the legs were forced through a space not over three inches across. As quick as the accident happened the injured boy screamed from pain and the other boys stopped the table. He was carried into a house near by and Dr. Parks, the resident physician, was summoned. A special train was also sent for Dr. Nichols at the beach. It was found that all the flesh on the back of both legs was torn away nearly to the bone. No bones were broken. The physicians put back the flesh as best they could, and sewed up the large gashes. They give it as their opinion that the boy, owing to his youth, will recover.

STILL ANOTHER COMPLIMENT.—Mr. Francis A. Wilson, a prominent New York lawyer, arrived here Tuesday on his way home from a trip through Southern California. He is a man of means and is looking for good investments. Since his arrival he has been driving around the city and has been very favorably impressed. He says: "What struck my fancy more than anything else, perhaps, was the large number of beautiful residences there are in the city. I do not think I ever visited a place of this size that gave more convincing evidence of thrift and excellent taste. I had no idea Oregon was such a magnificent state. The Willamette valley with its broad fields of golden grain seemed like a vast panorama and the air was so fresh and invigorating that I felt as if I could stay there forever."

WORKINGMEN IN DEMAND.—Workingmen are in demand, and there is no need of any one who is able to work being idle. The Metropolitan Railway Company, who are building an electric motor line to Fulton park, can not get as many men as they want. They tried Chinese but they would not work satisfactorily and were discharged. All available men are furnished with employment at the grain elevator and it is impossible to get as many as are wanted. The work of building the cribs or bins is being pushed as rapidly as possible. As the work consists mainly of laying planks and spiking them down it does not require full fledged carpenters. The walls of the elevator are beginning to loom up and an immense amount of lumber is being used in constructing them.

THE CONGRESSMAN MAKING HIS ROUNDS.—Congressman Hermann is home from his first trip in the interior of the state to learn the needs of the people in the matter of national legislation. He spent Monday at the Cascade locks, and found that with the unexpended $80,000 of last year's appropriation a good showing can be made since it will place much of the stone now on hand in the walls. Tuesday a committee of The Dalles Board of Trade took charge of him and an examination was made of the portage railway location. Congressman Hermann will try to cover as much territory as possible in the brief time he has at his disposal.

THE FOUNDATION FOR THE THEATER.—Work on the eight story Marquam theater and office building is being pushed. The foundation for the Alder street frontage is well under way, and work on the foundation for the Morrison street front will begin in a few days. The stone comes from Fisher's Landing W. T. Mr. Marquam is burning the brick for the building at his yard on the Taylor's ferry road. He is burning 1,500,000 brick. Mr. P. A. Marquam, jr., said yesterday that it was his father's intention to finish the theater by Christmas.

WANTON CRUELTY.—Yesterday Toy Suah, a Chinese lad employed at the Esmond, while carrying a scuttle of coal up from the incline at the foot of Morrison street, was struck by a piece of glass thrown from the upper story of a building near. The glass cut through the boy's blouse and made a deep gash in his shoulder. There is no excuse for such an act of wanton cruelty, and only a very contemptible fellow would be guilty of it. The fellow who threw the glass probably despises a Chinaman but it is a very poor specimen of a Chinaman who would be guilty of such a piece of wanton meanness.

THE JOHN DILLARD LETTER.—Judge Deady was asked by a reporter yesterday what he thought of John Dillard's letter published in THE OREGONIAN a day or two since in regard to the case of Goldsmith et al. vs. Holmes et al. He said: "I do not suppose that John Dillard did or could write the letter. But if he read it before signing it, and was aware of the palpable and malicious falsehoods it contains, I am sorry for the old man. For whatever I may have thought before, this mess of mendacity strongly suggests, that he might deny his signature under oath for $10,000 or even a very small part of it."

NOT SERIOUSLY INJURED.—Mrs. J. P. Howe who was reported to have been hurt at Ilwaco several days since is not as badly injured as first supposed. Mrs. Howe was stepping from a car when her dress caught on the steps and the train started to move. She was thrown on her right shoulder and side and though considerably bruised no bones were broken. The shoulder swelled up until it was about twice its natural size soon after the fall and it was thought that the shoulder blade was broken. The swelling has subsided and beyond feeling a little sore she is again around.

A LOST GIRL.—Any one knowing the whereabouts of Annie Magee, 14 years of age, who left her home, at Oregon City a week ago, will please inform the chief of police, or Mr. Ira F. Powers, where she may be found. When last seen she was going from East Portland to Albina, on the railroad track. She wore a blue striped gingham dress, green straw hat trimmed with green ribbon, has brown hair worn in a braid and brown eyes, and is of slender build. Her parents are anxious to learn her whereabouts and if she is in any respectable place are willing for her to remain there.

JOHNSON CREEK SEWER.—Mr. John Bays returned yesterday from a week's visit to San Francisco. He states that 460 feet of the excavation for the Johnson creek sewer has been completed, and that bricklaying on the job will be begun to-day. The section of the sewer in the vicinity of L street will be built first but as soon as the river gets down to low watermark the whole force will be put to work at that point and the sewer completed before the rise in the river can interfere with the work.

NEARLY DRIED UP.—Persons who have recently visited Wasco county report that Fifteen mile creek, beyond The Dalles, is nearly dried up. The water left stands in pools which are constantly shrinking, and the numerous trout collected in these pools are dying. The prairie chickens have to resort to these pools for water and large numbers can easily be killed there. Many persons are already hauling water long distances, and if rain does not fall soon there will be dry times in that section.

THE MATCHLESS HARDMAN PIANOS.—Mr. W. T. Shanahan says that these instruments now on exhibition at his warerooms in the Abington building, are attracting the attention of professors of music, and the more intelligent class of people to an unusual degree. He further says that the patent harp stop and metallic key support are advantages indispensable in the construction of a perfect instrument. The Hardman company, established in 1842, are the inventors and sole proprietors of this wonderful appliance.

SHOT BY A TRAMP.—A gentleman who arrived on the express from San Francisco yesterday states that during the night the train was coming up the Sacramento valley, a brakeman who drove some tramps off the train was shot by one of them, the bullet glancing on his skull inflicting a severe wound and causing him to fall from the train. His injuries in falling were more serious than the pistol shot wound. The tramps, of which there was quite a number, escaped.

BEAUTIFUL WORK.—E. W. Moore the photographer, has purchased the exclusive right to use Snell's patent water color for coloring photographs. A fine exhibit of this work can be seen in the doorway at 23 Washington street. It is among the most beautiful work of the kind that has ever been seen. In order to well advertise the work, Mr. Moore will beautifully color one photograph in every dozen that is made in his gallery.

MOUNT TABOR CONCERTS.—The Saturday evening concerts at Mount Tabor have proved the most pleasant and successful features of suburban amusement yet attempted. The programme for next Saturday has been carefully selected and will be the best yet rendered. The grounds will be much better lighted than heretofore and no effort spared to make the affair enjoyable.

MASONIC FUNERAL.—The remains of Joseph B. Harnstead, father of Mrs. C. L. Fay, will be buried by the Masonic fraternity under the auspice of Willamette lodge No. 2 A. F. & A. M. this afternoon. All Master Masons are invited to join with the lodge, which meets in Masonic hall at 1:30 P. M.

THE SINGLE TAX THEORY.—The Portland Ballot Reform and Single Tax club will hold a regular meeting at Grand Army hall to-night. All are welcome. Those desiring information concerning this movement will do well to attend as the theory will be fully explained and questions answered.

A FINE BUCK.—A fine buck was displayed in a Morrison street market yesterday, the first brought in this season. It was shot a few miles west of town. Its horns were in the velvet. There is something loose with the game law in regard to deer, owing to the tinkering of the last legislature.

PUT 'EM DOWN.—There is a very general and laudable activity displayed in the matter of putting down new sidewalks. The city surveyor and his assistants are kept busy setting stakes for these much needed improvements. The sooner there are new sidewalks all over town the better.

BOYS, ATTENTION!—We are showing to-day cheviot suits for $1.25, sizes 6 to 11. Better goods for $2.50 and $4. Anyhow, come and look at the prices in our clothing window; they'll teach you how to combine style with economy. J. Selling & Co., First and Taylor.

TAKING A LOOK AT THE COUNTRY.—Messrs. S. C. Ragan, C. C. Reynolds, John Bell, O. S. Robbins, H. H. Mulholland and Mr. Bowman, of Vicksburg, Miss., are at the Gilman. They are taking a look over the country with a view to investment.

VISITING PORTLAND.—Mr. William H. Kinne and wife, of Redwood City, Cal., are visiting friends in this city. Mr. Kinne is sheriff of San Mateo county, Cal., having lately been elected for a second term.

BRIDGE DESTROYED.—A small bridge above Oswego across a deep gulch on the new county road to Oregon City, which was destroyed by fire a week ago, is being rebuilt and will be completed Saturday.

CARP BROUGHT IN.—Some one brought 100 pounds of carp to town yesterday, the largest weighing four pounds. They sold readily to people who have not tried them yet.

A NEW CLUB HOUSE.—The Arlington club have bonded half a block on Fourth street and contemplate putting up a club house which will be a credit to the city.

THE SUIT brought by us against Charles Kerpele as a guarantor has been dismissed, a mutual understanding being reached. Foard & Stokes.

ONLY GRASS BURNING.—The alarm from fire box 31 at 1:15 P. M. yesterday was for a fire in a lot of grass in South Portland.

NEW catch mess mackerel, kippered herrings and '89 Mattes herring at L. B. Mayer, 70 Morrison.

Mr. L. L. Hawkins Gives His Experience in Harpooning Porpoises

Mr. L. L. Hawkins has just returned from a twenty days' trip through California. He visited the Lake Tahoe region and then went to Los Angeles from whence he went to Redondo beach, eighteen miles distant, where Messrs. Ainsworth and Thompson have a tract of land of several thousand acres, and where they are building a fine hotel, bath houses, etc.

While at Redondo Mr. Hawkins enjoyed the sport of hunting porpoises which he says far excels buffalo hunting and which he considers the most exciting sport in the world. A party consisting of the board of supervisors of Los Angeles and several other gentlemen were invited by Captain George J. Ainsworth to take a short excursion on a steam launch. They took along a harpoon and several hundred feet of line and when about four miles out ran into a school of porpoises. There were thousands of them scattered over an area of some fifteen acres . . . feeding on schools of small fish. They would average six feet in length and about 200 pounds in weight.

When the launch got among them they kept jumping around it on all sides, some coming up within a few feet of the boat. Mr. Hawkins took his station on the prow, and had himself lashed to a stay and with harpoon in hand essayed to capture a porpoise. The sleek active animals would leap out of the water by the score all around him, give a grunt of surprise, wink one of their little pig like eyes at him, and follow their pointed noses under the water before he could get the harpoon into them.

After many trials he at last got the hang of the thing and sent his harpoon up to the handle in one, and then the circus began. No trout ever made a gamer fight than this porpoise. He ran out about 300 feet of line, and leaped and kicked and splurged, and it took three men to play him, and he made it lively for them about half an hour. As he was being hauled in he made a flurry and got off the harpoon. Six in all were harpooned and each made a most desperate fight and all succeeded in getting away except the last one which was hauled on board and taken ashore.

When the salmon are exterminated and the carp and catfish have crowded all the other fish out of the streams of Oregon, fishermen will have to fall back on porpoises for fun. There are millions of them in the broad Pacific and it will take a long time to exterminate them.

CHIEF MORGAN COMPLAINS

That People Pile Wood Around Fire Hydrants—It Should Be Removed

Many people are now laying in their winter's supply of wood and the numerous piles of this necessary article around the streets surprise strangers from cities where there are back alleys. In this happy-go-lucky city people imagine they can pile their wood anywhere, and leave it as long as they please.

Chief Engineer Morgan of the fire department complains that a number of persons have piled cordwood about fire hydrants in various parts of the city, which it would take some time to remove in case of fire. Every one knows that a few minutes in the beginning of a fire are worth a great many after it has got under headway, and every one should know better than to thus obstruct access to a hydrant.

The time lost in removing a pile of wood might cost a loss of thousands of dollars and the many extensive fires . . . in the Northwest should be sufficient warning to all to be more careful about such matters. Chief Morgan will cause the arrest of any one guilty of this offense hereafter and all who have . . . should . . . to have the wood removed before they are obliged to.

EVENTS ON THE EAST SIDE.

Work on the Adams Street M. E. Church Temporarily Delayed.

Two Fastidious Tramps—The Fall of a Scaffold—Houses for Rent—Omission Supplied—Odd Fellows' Building.

Some delay in commencing work on the Adams street M. E. church has been caused by a change in the plans that has been made, but it is expected that the contract will be awarded and work commenced within two weeks. The building now occupied will be moved to the rear of the grounds and will be used as a Sunday school and class room. There is every reason to think that the edifice will be ready for dedication in the fall. It will be remembered that some time ago it was announced that $1,500 had been contributed to the building fund. This insures the erection of the church beyond a peradventure. The building will cost about $5,000.

IN THE CITY JAIL.

The city jail now contains two common every day tramps and they are enjoying the cool apartments and the bread and coffee. They even complained that the bread had no butter on it, showing they were of epicurean tastes. Both were in for begging . . . The other day a tramp went to Mr. McClure's residence on N street, and demanded something to eat. He was told that if he would rake the back yard clean he would be given a square meal. He assented but as he claimed he was very hungry he was given the meal before he commenced on the job. After eating he was told where the rake was, but he walked directly by that implement and disdained to soil his hands by such a menial task. Any act of charity for a tramp is wasted.

OMISSION SUPPLIED.

All the announcements for the funeral of the late D. L. Leathers, which took place last Sunday, were made in full, but by an omission a notice of the funeral services were not published. In response to inquiries from Columbia City, W. T., where he had many friends, it will be stated the funeral took place Sunday under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias and the Grand Army. It was very largely attended and the remains were buried in Lone Fir. Mrs. Leathers is slowly recovering from the great shock occasioned her by her husband's death.

THE ODD FELLOWS BUILDING.

Walter Jones, the contractor, yesterday succeeded in placing the Odd Fellows building on its new foundation, corner of Fifth and I streets. It was landed in good shape and was not racked in any respect. It is quite an improvement on the old barn that stood there for so many years.

OFF FOR WILHOIT.

E. M. Sargent, of the real estate firm of Lambert & Sargent, left yesterday for Wilhoit Springs for a few days' outing with his rod and gun. He has not been well for some time and he hopes that the pure mountain air will prove beneficial.

SCAFFOLDING GAVE WAY.

Yesterday forenoon a loud crash was heard in Logus's new building on Third and J streets. It was supposed that some one in the building was hurt, but such was not the case as there was no one on the scaffolding that collapsed.

AN ADVANCE.

H. D. McGuire has purchased from I. F. Chemin the latter's interest in a twenty acre tract near Irvington for $8000. Mr. McGuire was offered the tract two months ago for $7000 but did not take it then, and now pays $8000.

WILL BUILD TENEMENT HOUSES.

W. T. Burney has purchased two lots on the southwest corner of Sixth and G streets, for which he paid the sum of $7000. He will cover this ground with several cottages for renting purposes.

PERSONAL.

Rev. D. O. Gh . . . is at Clatsop Beach.

Mrs. W. B. Hill has returned from her three months trip East.

Mr. John Fayre is here from the Clatskanine, on a visit with his old friends.

Mr. George Johnson left for Long Beach last night. He will be away about six weeks.

CARD OF THANKS

J. H. Jones & Co. wish to express their heartfelt thanks to all those who worked so nobly in fighting the fire and saving property on the night of July 21 at their mill south of the city on the Macadam road.

WHAT BIBLE?

The Idaho constitutional convention on Tuesday discussed the section of the educational article forbidding the use of sectarian books. We are glad to note that the convention refused a passage to the following amendment:

Provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to forbid the reading of the Bible in the public schools, nor to enjoin its use.

There was a good deal of demagogue talk in favor of this amendment. To acknowledge the influence of the moral teachings of the Bible is one thing while to make it reading part of the religious exercises in the public schools is quite another thing. If the Bible is to be read what bible? the Protestant version or the Catholic or both? the Old Testament which the Jew accepts or the New Testament which he rejects? Would Idaho teach her children hostility to Mormonism by reading the Old Testament redolent of polygamy and concubinage or the monogamic teachings of the New Testament? How could any state expect logically to refuse to support the Roman Catholic parochial schools if it includes among the religious exercises of the common schools the reading of the Bible that to the Catholic is not simply the 'foundation of all morality and truth' but is a sectarian book?

Mr Poe of Nez Perces declared that all our laws are founded upon the Bible. Does Mr Poe think that the divorce laws which rule in nine-tenths of the Union and in England are founded upon the Bible? Does he find the faintest trace of any hostility to polygamy expressed in the Old Testament even in the Ten Commandments on which we base our laws which make bigamy polygamy and concubinage crimes? Does Mr Claggett really believe that the Bible is "the foundation of all morality and truth?" Does he really believe that the morality and truth for which integrity, truthfulness, justice mercy temperance, humanity, forgiveness of injuries self sacrifice and obedience to conscience stand, had no evangelists before Christ or no evangelists after Christ that never had a chance to know Christ?

The Bible has more than once been used to fortify human slavery and all the immorality and inhumanity that it implies, it has been used as the pedestal of the cruel theocracy of Puritan New England, it is used today to justify polygamy by the Mormon, it is used to justify the sentimental destructive doctrine of Christian socialism preached by Victor Hugo. So far from being the foundation of all morality and truth, it is a mixture of truth and error, and its ethics are in many places so execrable that they are not only not practiced but are under the ban of both the law and the church in all Christian countries. The Bible is no more "the foundation of all morality and truth" than Plato and Aristotle are the foundation of all morality and truth—whether spiritual or scientific. The evolution of all morality and all truth did not begin with the Bible nor end with it and to pretend that it did is as historically untrue as it would be to say that all we know of applied natural philosophy began and ended with Archimedes, or all speculative science began and ended with Aristotle.

CIVILIZATION AND LIBERTY

It has always been a favorite idea with thinkers of the superficial order that man in society is deprived of his natural liberties and that society as it is constituted is an unwarrantable restraint on the individual. They who hold this idea always have a theory of a social state in which the laws shall not press on any one. What they call 'natural society' is the object of their dreams. Close observers and sound thinkers in every age have seen and exposed the fallacy of these visions, but they reappear continually under only slightly changing forms. At the root of these theories anarchism always exists. Of course no men ever have had liberty in the sense of entire freedom of action but civilization and society make man far more free than he ever was or ever can be in a state of nature.

Professor Sumner in a recent article in the Independent makes this plain. The savage man the primitive man or the man in the state of nature was not a free man. The exigencies of subsistence held him tight and when he united with his fellows he was subjected to discipline to traditions and customs. Among the nomadic hordes of Central Asia or among the men of the Bedouin type Professor Sumner finds the wildest and most untamed form of personal liberty. But it was accompanied by slavery and this leads to Professor Sumner's conclusion that the notion of wild, unrestrained personal liberty found an approximate realization only when society was so differentiated that some could get this freedom because others had been reduced to servitude. The primitive man began [illegible] empty handed. He was hampered on all sides had everything to conquer and only by his achievements could he emancipate himself from the surrounding difficulties. So civilization instead of robbing us of our birthright of freedom has given us a measure of emancipation from the unlimited constraint and oppression under which mankind began.

HOT WEATHER BEHAVIOR

Mid summer by the almanac mid summer by the thermometer mid summer by the sun that pours its fiery rays upon the sidewalks and sends the air in through the open casement [illegible] from a furnace. The fact is undeniable. We are not here to complain about the unreasonable condition of affairs but to [illegible] the effect upon perspiring humanity as much as possible. The few comparatively speaking who can escape to the seashore and mountains do so of course but the great majority have to remain and those who intelligently make the best of the situation are wise. It is perfectly possible to keep cool in hot weather if one can devote his time and attention to this single object and has saved enough by close economy during the rest of the year to pay the bills incident to idleness and recreation. Most of us are not thus situated. The summer is here [illegible] are here with it and here to stay. The sensible thing for the daily toiler to do is to go lightly clad and lightly fed to walk on the shady side of the street avoid hurry [illegible] worry [illegible] the frequently [illegible] water not too cool and let iced drinks and intoxicating beverages entirely alone. The [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] no doubt [illegible] comparatively speaking at tent[illegible]

[illegible] Congress [illegible] Bangor [illegible] thirty years [illegible] the Whig and Courier [illegible] years here has been a [illegible] saloons in operation in Bangor [illegible] "the city is under the rule of the saloon." During the strike of the lumbermen the mayor ordered the saloons to close which they did until the strike passed and now they have opened again or in the words of the Whig and Courier "the rum shops of this city resumed their devastating work in our midst," or again, "the drunkard mills of the city are again running on full time and grinding out their sickening grist of inebriates." In a later issue the paper announces that "the tide of intoxication is again flowing unchecked through our streets." So prohibition is not temperance a statute is not temperance; a constitutional amendment is not temperance. But if the people of Maine would cease to depend on constitution and laws and push temperance work with its only effective forces—moral social, religious and educational endeavor—the tide of intoxication wouldn't flow so disgracefully through the streets of their cities. It would be held in check as it is in places like Portland Or.

Concerning execution of the death penalty by electricity Edison has testified that it can be applied without difficulty so as to instantaneously and painlessly kill a man sitting in the electrical chair. Of course no intelligent man expected any less positive testimony from Edison who always knows what he is talking about but it has always seemed to us an exhibition of mistaken misplaced humanity to devise a painless death for a murderer. A murderer inflicts a great deal of pain generally upon his victim and if he does not it is not due to any design on his part and therefore we believe that in justice and equity he is not entitled to a painless execution. The murderer ought to be made to taste some of the agony he has cruelly and recklessly inflicted upon his victim. If death by electricity could be shown to be painful to a considerable degree we should feel less regret at the abandonment of death by the hangman's cord but Edison's testimony leaves no doubt that the humanitarian cranks of the Empire state have succeeded too well in providing a perfect euthanasia or happy despatch for her cutthroats hereafter.

The finale of the Sullivan Kilrain prize fight has been reached. The champion has drawn the money from the stake holder made the rounds of the sports' saloons of New York filled his friends with champagne and himself with whisky becoming proudly boastful of his rare qualities as a brave and powerful fighter and expressing himself as eager for another encounter with a gentleman in the prize ring. Governor Lowry seems to have abandoned his effort to vindicate the name of Mississippi by punishing the fighters and all now bids fair to remain quiet until the champion succeeds in imbibing enough whisky to become riotously drunk—an undertaking of some magnitude but one which he will doubtless accomplish before he gets through with the first half of the $10 000 'earned' in whipping Kilrain. In the meantime the dog days approach and the people having had a surfeit of recreation long for rest.

An advance statement showing the principal exports from the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30 1889 has just been issued by the bureau of statistics at Washington. The report shows a considerable gain over the exports of the preceding year. The following are comparative figures showing exports of leading articles:

	1889	1888
Breadstuffs	$120 [illegible]00 000	$124 700 000
Cotton	2[illegible]8 [illegible]0 000	[illegible]22 900 000
Provisions	99 400 000	[illegible] 600 000
Cattle and hogs	16 300 000	1[illegible] 400,000
Petroleum	49 400 000	46 500,000
	$522,100 000	$494 100,000

Envious cities of limited area but large expectations are talking sarcastically of Chicago's 'hay crop' since that enterprising city reached out and took in the northwest corner of the state of Illinois down to the Indiana line. It is even said that the oat crop of the big city promises well that its corn crop is average that it has something of a wool crop and a noble dairy product. So far as has yet developed its police crop has not made a remarkable showing though at last accounts there was a reasonable certainty that the murder of Cronin was compassed through a conspiracy.

More petroleum was exported from the United States last year than ever before. Although the production in other countries was enormous we shipped 612 000 000 gallons valued at $49 420 817. Competition has, however reduced the price for in 1871 the export was about one half the number of gallons exported in 1888 yet the value of the same was estimated at $61 000 000.

During last year the output of anthracite coal was 38 145 718 tons. Of this amount a little over two thirds was consumed in Pennsylvania New York and New Jersey. The Pacific coast only took about 7 000 tons but the consumption of coal in the West is rapidly increasing. Over 2 000 000 tons was shipped out of the country.

A Negro Child Sacrificed to a False Messiah—A Swiss Count Kills His Mistress and Commits Suicide

GERVAIS Or July 24—A terrible accident occurred near Fairfield last evening about 7 o clock. Reginald the 9 year old son of D Hess was instantly killed by the upsetting of a water tank and was literally crushed to pieces. The boy in company with Mr S J Kerr went down to the river to fill up the water tank to supply the threshing machine which was at work on the Millsap place one mile north of Fairfield and while coming up the hill they ran against a stump which upset the wagon and the tank fell with full force on the boy breaking his neck limbs and body. No blame is attached to anyone. Mr Kerr was considerably bruised also.

A CHINATOWN BURNED.

Forty Buildings and Their Contents in Sacramento Destroyed

SACRAMENTO Cal July [illegible]—The entire Chinatown district in this city consisting of forty wooden buildings mainly rookeries was burned at 4 o clock this morning. Owing to the location of the buildings in proximity to the switching yards of the Southern Pacific railroad which were filled with loaded cars the fire department was unable to do any effective work and all the buildings and their contents were destroyed. It is believed that no lives were lost though many Chinese had narrow escapes. The loss on the buildings will not exceed $10 000. No insurance.

SHOCKING DEPRAVITY

A Negro Child Sacrificed to an Alleged Messiah

SAVANNAH July 24—A child sacrificed to a pseudo Messiah who has been working among the negroes of Liberty county, has just been discovered in a remote part of that county. The child is black. Its throat is cut and its ears missing. The negroes are possessed of a religious craze created by Orth's or Bell's preaching and will not talk of the murder but it is believed that the parents did the killing. They are disciples of the false Christ who preached frequently of human sacrifice. The coroner is investigating and the negroes are in a lamentable state of religious frenzy. Edward James who is acting as leader of the congregation since Orth was sent to the asylum ten days ago appears before an audience almost perfectly nude when he preaches.

A TRAGEDY IN HIGH LIFE.

A Swiss Count Kills His Mistress and Then Commits Suicide

COPENHAGEN July 24—A great sensation has been caused in the highest circles by the suicide of Count Sparre, a member of a prominent Swiss family after he had killed his mistress. Count Sparre had been carrying on a liaison with Livia Madegan a circus performer on the island of Tansigne and becoming involved in a quarrel with his mistress drew a pistol, shot her and then shot himself. Count Sparre was married and his wife moved in the most aristocratic circles in Copenhagen.

THE PARNELL COMMISSION

Testimony by Malony Concerning the Documents of the Land League

LONDON July 24—At today's session of the Parnell commission Maloney an ex officer of the land league was examined. He denied all knowledge of any documents concerning the league except those in the hands of Parnell's solicitor. He also said that Parnell was in error when he said that he (Maloney) upon leaving the country ordered the documents in his possession to be destroyed.

A number of documents belonging to the land league were removed from the house in Blessington street Dublin where Sexton lived in 1882. His (Maloney's) wife was empowered to draw league checks. Maloney could not say why she was thus empowered except that the ladies' league of which she was treasurer was assisting in carrying on the work of the league.

Millar of the national bank testified that Parnell never suggested to him that the checks and bank books of the league should be destroyed.

Tyrell cashier of the bank stated that he had received an order to destroy the waste box last February. He did not examine the books to see if they contained documents material to the inquiry.

THE STORY DISBELIEVED

No Credence Given the Report that Mrs Heron Is in Danger in Corea

WASHINGTON July 24—Dr Allen secretary of the Corean embassy called at the state department this morning and talked with Acting Secretary Wharton about the case of Mrs Heron the missionary reported to be under sentence of death for preaching the doctrines of Christianity in Corea. Dr Allen stated to Wharton his entire disbelief in the truth of the story. Even if the lady had been charged with the offense she would be under the jurisdiction of the consular courts and the emperor except by the exercise of arbitrary power could not order her execution.

ENTIRELY IMPROBABLE

NEW YORK July [illegible]—The report that Mrs Heron a Presbyterian missionary in Corea had been sentenced to death for teaching Christianity is not credited by the officials and they consider that such an action by the Corean authorities is entirely improbable.

Jay Gould Says He Has Made no Offer for its Purchase

NEW YORK July 24—Jay Gould in an interview in regard to the rumor that he was negotiating for the purchase of the Chicago & Alton said: "I have all the railroads I need at present. I have made no offer for the Alton."

Regarding the withdrawal of the Alton and the rumored withdrawal of the Missouri Pacific from the Interstate Association he said he thought the association would continue to exist in spite of the Alton. It is a dividend paying road. It must maintain rates. Crops in the southwest except cotton are all out of danger and there would be business enough for all the rest of the year.

A SENSATIONAL CASE.

The Mysterious Story of a Woman Who Wanted a Fortune

CHICAGO, July 24—A suit at law with many peculiar features, was decided here to day by Judge Knickerbocker. Colonel Walter Babcock a supposed bachelor, died in August 1887 at Gardiner Ill from the effects of a pistol shot received under mysterious circumstances which have never been cleared up. He was on a visit to Miss Sarah Dodge a spinster.

He left an estate valued at $60 000 and his sister Mrs Hattie A Martin secured a dower of administration thereon, pending the settlement of the estate.

Mrs Naomi Fairchild aged 60 years and broken in health began a suit to secure a share of the estate, claiming to be Colonel Babcock's widow. She maintained that she was once considered a very beautiful woman in fact that she was the belle of the whole country side in Wisconsin. Colonel Babcock she avers fell in love with her as a widow and on October 7 two days before the great fire of 1871 married her. The circumstances of the marriage as she related them were very peculiar. He took her [illegible] on Wabash avenue in this city the location of which she cannot fix and [illegible] they were made one. After the ceremony he took her back to her house and [illegible] enjoining upon her to keep the matter secret. [illegible] was known as Mrs Fairchild until [illegible] Colonel [illegible]

The question next to be considered is [illegible] to where it will be placed [illegible] will [illegible] Many favor Central Park but in order to make it available it would have to be torn up and its present beauty the result of thirty years of labor would be necessarily destroyed and great expense to the city caused thereby. The locations at Staten Island Harlem or Long Island are urged with more reason and it is likely that some such place will be chosen. Those who have taken the matter in charge are most enthusiastic. They say that the exhibition will be grander than that at present in Paris that it will last longer that the buildings will cover more ground and that the exhibits will be more typical. It has been urged strongly that the fair should be largely American showing the growth of the two American continents in their four centuries of history.

"The Pacific slope will I suppose be looked to for support," suggested the correspondent.

"Yes indeed," replied Mayor Grant, "great things will be expected from them. That new and rich country of yours will reap a great profit from it and will no doubt contribute the most interesting features."

HIS SCHEME WAS DISCOVERED.

A Confidence Man Finds Chicago Too Warm for Him and Departs

CHICAGO July 23—Joseph Herzog an alleged vineyard owner from California who tried an old confidence game at the Grand Pacific hotel yesterday evening was held prisoner in his room last night.

After his scheme had been discovered along with a satchel full of bricks Herzog fled but returned at 10 o clock last evening and attempted to sneak up to his room by the back way. A detective seized him and locked him in the room. This morning Herzog accompanied by the detective went to a State street store where Herzog secured $5 from a friend and with the money paid his bill took up his bogus baggage and left.

Herzog is the man who advertised in a German paper for strong men to work in the vineyards in Napa Cal. Free transportation good wages and other inducements were offered for which Herzog was to have all the money in advance as a guarantee of good faith. The hotel was full of men yesterday anxious to accept his terms but his game was discovered and he fled.

FINANCIAL—The following is a statement of the clearing house business to-day Clearances $[illegible]157, balances, $59 408 02.

FLOUR—Receipts for the past five days have been 3304 bbls. Of this amount the valley sent in [illegible] bbls, the rest, 675 bbls coming from east of the mountains. The market shows no change in prices, but a healthier tone prevails and the demand is good. We quote standards $4 other brands $3 50.

MILLSTUFF—Receipts for the past six days have been 608 ctls of this amount 180 ctls. are bran, 353 barley and 361 ctls. mixed The market shows but little change We quote Bran $14 shorts $15 50 chop, $17 50@20 ground barley, $20 per ton.

OATS—The receipts for the past week have been 11[illegible] ctls, as against 7547 ctls for the week previous. The market is steadily improving and good old oats readily bring 40c and have for a week or more. We quote 35@40c.

ONIONS—Old onions are about out of the market. The market is at present supplied principally with California new crop but Oregon produce will soon be in We quote $1 [illegible] the cental.

VEGETABLES—The market is in fine condition with trading in all kinds active Oregon produce fills the demand except in the matter of tomatoes Oregon string beans peas and cabbage are plentiful. We quote California green tomatoes 85c per 20 pound box cucumbers 0c per dozen lettuce, carrots, turnips and beans are peddled Oregon cabbage 2c per pound peas 3c per pound

POTATOES—Receipts have dwindled away to nil. Old potatoes are out of the market We quote for new crop $1 10 sweets 5c per pound

GREEN FRUITS—Receipts for the past six days have been 8 car loads and 956 boxes The market continues active and very firm California peaches are coming in in quantity and apricots are plentiful. Some new California apples have also come up, and pineapples are plentiful. We quote Bananas, $3 75@4 per bunch lemons, $7 50@8 per box California peaches, 75c@$1 per box apricots, 75c@$1 apples $1 50 per box blackberries 6c per pound watermelons $3 50, and cantaloupes, $4 50 per crate.

BUTTER—Receipts for the past week have been 131 pkgs The market is firm and advancing We quote choice dairy and gilt edged creamery 25c per pound 50c a roll, good to fair, [illegible]22½c, common 15@20c.

EGGS—The receipts for the past six days have been 813 cases. The market is weak and demand active. We quote 20c.

POULTRY—The market is easy We quote Chickens old $5 50@6, broilers plenty $[illegible]@3 50.

HAY—Receipts for the past week have been light. Old hay is getting pretty well cleaned up and the new crop just being harvested has begun to come in We quote for old hay $13@14.

HIDES—Receipts for the past week have been 6,355 pounds. The market is weak and heavily stocked and gives every indication of increased stocks and decidedly lower prices. We quote Dry hides, selected prime, 9@10c green selected, over 55 pounds, 4c, under 55 pounds 3c sheep pelts, short wool, 30@50c medium, 60@80c long, 90@$1 25, shearlings, 10@20c tallow, good to choice, 3@3½c.

WOOL—Receipts for the past six days have been 111,108 pounds. The market is dull and weak We quote Eastern Oregon 12@18c according to shrinkage, valley 18@20c An Eastern trade circular says Oregon wools are again active and some good sized amounts have been taken by the Eastern mills at 20@22½c, costing scoured from [illegible] to 60c. At Hartford Ct. and Troy N Y large amounts of scoured Oregon is being received. There is a considerable amount of Washington territory held here, but it is not selling freely these wools are held at 18@21c for fine and 20@23c for fine medium, they appear longer and better bred than Eastern Oregon wools. Utah wools are quiet and are not attracting much attention.

PROVISIONS—The market holds firm but slow Eastern meats run remarkably fine and bring almost as much as Oregon We quote Oregon meats, hams 13@14c, breakfast bacon 13@13½c sides 9½@10c, shoulders 9@9½c, lard 10½c Eastern hams 13@14c, breakfast bacon 13@13½c, sides 9½c lard 9½@10½c.

DRIED FRUITS—Receipts for the past week have been 164 pkgs. The market is fairly active with prices for new goods but little removed from old as yet. We have to report another slump in prices, however all along the line. We quote sun dried apples quarters 4½@5c sliced 5@6c bleached Plummer dried 6½@6½c, unbleached Plummer dried 5@6c. Oregon prunes Italians 7c silver prunes 7c, petite 5@5½c German 5½@6c. Pears Plummer dried 8@9c sun dried and factory plums 6@7c peaches, 6@7c evaporated 10@11½c Raisins $1 75@2 25 a box Smyrna figs 14@15c California figs 8c per pound.

LONDON GRAIN LETTER.

The London correspondent of the Northwestern Miller writing under date of July 1 has the following:

Finer weather and weather more propitious for the growing crops in this country and in France could not be desired than that we have experienced during the past week As a consequence of this hot, forcing weather the wheat plant is rapidly maturing the blooming period has been passed through under the most favorable conditions so that in less than a month harvest will be general in the south of England unless July proves very unfavorable An early harvest in France and England is a very important matter especially this season, with one of the smallest quantities afloat on record and with the prospect of small foreign supplies until the new crop is available, and buyers under the circumstances may well hold aloof The trade nevertheless, has this week been very firm about 1s per qr advance being generally obtained The main cause of this firmness, of course, has been the Russian crop scare, reliable advices stating that the winter wheat is an absolute failure to the extent of 40 to 50 per cent. on last year's crop (winter wheat) of about 95 000 000 bushels. The spring wheat crop had also suffered seriously, but the recent rains have partly remedied the injury, On Thursday we received a telegram from St. Petersburg through Reuter's agency, which is evidently inspired by some stock exchange speculators to the effect that the fears for the success of the crops in the south of Russia had been dispelled by the recent rainfall. As a matter of fact, the winter wheat crop was beyond relief, a fact confirmed by official as well as private information The probability now is that the winter wheat crop in Russia will not exceed 50,000,000 bushels, against 94,000 000 bushels last year, and the spring crop 125 000 000 bushels against 152,000,000 bushels. The total crop is therefore likely to be 175 000 000 bushels, against 246,000,000 bushels last year the shortage thus being about 70,000 000 bushels As a partial set off to this the stocks of old wheat in the country at harvest time will as the statement in my last letter shows, likely amount to about 1,000,000 bushels so that if stocks are run down to the low point of 1887, there will be as much to spare for export as has been actually exported in the past season, viz, about 100,000 000 bushels. Under these circumstances the failure of the Russian crop is not so serious as it appears prima facie. It may be mentioned in this connection that a 175,000,000 bushel crop in Russia is not inadequate, the crops of 1886 and 1885 averaging about this quantity. The final report of the Indian crop, which was harvested in March, shows that the deficiency is quite as large as was expected The acreage in fact decreased to about 26 250 000 acres, against 26 625 000 acres in 1887 while the total crop reaches about 6 500 000 tons against 7 027 000 tons last year showing thus a shortage of about 18 750 000 bushels Under these circumstances I do not expect India's surplus this season to exceed 26 000 000 bushels against 33 50 000 bushels the past season. Already since April the decrease in the shipments is nearly 6 000 000 bushels If we add this to the deficiency in the probable exports from Australia, Chili and Argentine, which amounts to about 20 000 000 bushels it will be seen that the new season of 1889-90 starts with a prospective deficiency of no mean magnitude At the present moment the trade has become much quieter owing to the St Petersburg telegram about the [illegible] crops above referred to Holders however preserve a steady front and [illegible] the [illegible] reports of damage to the American crop in the Northwest gain in intensity we may yet have a lively time before September 1 The flour market in London [illegible] and [illegible] shows [illegible] of late [illegible] sympathy with wheat but in London the demand is very slow Pillsbury [illegible] are very slow to sell at [illegible] 24 per 280 pounds ex ship Hungarian first [illegible] still [illegible] at a low price [illegible] but they do not sell very freely in spite of their acknowledged superior quality

THE SAN FRANCISCO WOOL MARKET

The American Wool Reporter of recent date has the following review of the San Francisco wool situation

This is a strong market prices ruling firm at quotations and indeed some extra choice Humboldts or Mendocino also [illegible] Oregon bring a fraction above quotations [illegible] large sales having been made [illegible] all kinds and buyers still continue to be desirous of [illegible] more especially of the good wools

The sales at Ukiah and Cloverdale have taken place and 10@2½ was paid in some cases 4 cents The average price however was 23 cents To these prices must be added freight commission for buying interest and allowance made for unmerchantable wool as all wools there are sold as is At this writing a sale of about 500 000 pounds of Humboldt and Mendocino wool has been made here As yet terms are unknown but it is safe to say that 24 cents is the lowest for the good the only question being Did not the choice bring 2 cents Scourers are all running full time and the demand for the medium and defective wools is good Prices remain firm and unchanged

The Merchandise Market

The local trade is fairly active in all lines Reports from the interior are not glowing in regard to the growing crops Even the fruit crop promises to be short, more particularly plums and prunes Old potatoes are about out of the market and new Irish and sweets are coming in in quantities. Oranges are out of the market as are also cherries Watermelons and cantaloupes are beginning to arrive freely The Southern Oregon melon crop will be about five days earlier than 1888 Sugars have fallen off another ¼c making a half cent since our quotations two weeks ago. The San Francisco Commercial News in its regular weekly review has the following

As no excitement has developed in the general markets of late and no marked change [illegible] either in rates or the volume of sales here [illegible] still complaint of dull times but it can not be denied that there is a steady healthy movement in [illegible] parts and a general tendency toward a firmer market Past the condition of business is reported as satisfactory and renewed activity is looked for there as soon as cooler weather sets in The distributive movement of merchandise has been this year in excess of last and the financial situation is equally favorable On the 16th both refiners reduced the rates for sugar ¼c all round which was probably due to the weaker feeling noted in Eastern and foreign advices One vessel has sailed from and four are loading at the Philippine islands for this port with raw sugar for the California refinery, and it is said the American has secured supplies in Java which will come forward later in the season Canners have restricted their purchases of refined this season due in part to the great increase in price while with the poor outlook for marketing the pack has curtailed the same materially A more favorable tone to the New York market has given firmness to the coffee trade here and while prices have not fluctuated since last report there is no more activity noted at firm figures Stocks now are light and the situation favors the seller The last island steamer brought up but 660 bags Hawaiian rice which was the first of the new crop Those light receipts caused an advance to $4 75 per 100 pounds but the improvement is looked upon as only temporary the expectation being that with larger imports the price will fall back to late quotations A fair demand exists for mixed and No 1 China at rates long current. Salt is still improving and now commands $13 per ton for the cheaper grades of Liverpool Fair supplies are en route by sail, two of the ships being due at any time. Spices still rule low due to the free supplies and small demand Rosin remains too scarce and high to quote but the next New York ship may relieve the famine Salmon is firm with not much activity reported On the Columbia the pack is still short but this year the season will not close until August 10 and considerable may yet be accomplished Telegraphic advices from British Columbia report that the canning season is now in full blast, and all hands are kept busy night and day The run it is expected will contrary to the former prediction prove fully up to the average Four thousand cases of salmon were brought down from Fort Wrangle for Puget sound consignees Mail advices from Liverpool to June 29 state that the distributive demand continues very active and gives promise of a splendid summer season in fact thus far in spite of high prices the trade throughout the year has exceeded that done in any previous corresponding period and holders look forward with confidence to a maintenance of present values and the clearance of present stock before the new season's goods reach market Canned fruits are firm and higher with peaches in demand and but small stocks here or in the East In fact advices are that the crop the other side of the mountains will be very short this year The bag market is not in a very satisfactory state the demand being poor at low rates To-day S. L. Jones & Co will offer 350 000 standard Calcutta goods of 1888-89 importation which will thoroughly test the market Tin plate is quoted at $4 85 per box and pig tin at [illegible]c per pound with ample supplies and a slow demand even at these favorable rates to buyers. Quicksilver is still quoted at $47 50 per flask though it is rumored some weak holders have shaded this figure to close out stocks Iron is without change.

"A Dry Cough"

Is dangerous as well as troublesome It renders the patient liable to the rupture of a blood vessel or to other serious injury of throat and lungs. To allay bronchial irritation and give immediate relief the best medicine is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

I was recently troubled with a dry cough which seemed to be caused by an irritation in the throat My physician prescribed for me but no relief was obtained A little over a week ago my attention being called to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral I concluded to try it I purchased a bottle After taking this medicine only one day I could see a change for the better and by the time I had used it a week my cough had entirely disappeared —H W Henry Franklin square Worcester Mass

A MATTER OF CHOICE.

Dana, of the New York Sun, was asked whether port wine did not bring on the gout He replied that he thought it did but that the man who would not prefer to suffer a few twinges of the gout rather than give up his port wine wasn't a man after his heart

Many things like this are a matter of choice, and we really believe that we are justified in saying that those who will not, in the face of the testimony which we can offer, try ATHLOPHOROS when they have Neuralgia or Rheumatism, really choose to keep the rheumatism rather than alter their opinion

DAVID E. MARTIN CAPTURED

Charles C. Grant's Murderer Run to Earth Yesterday Morning.

Conductor George H. Granger Does What a Sheriff's Posse and Several Detectives Were Unable to Accomplish.

David E. Martin, alias Lattin, alias Coleman, who killed Charles C. Grant, his friend and roommate, in a Tacoma lodging house at 3 o'clock last Friday morning, was arrested at 4 o'clock yesterday morning by Conductor George H. Granger, of train No. 3, bound for this city, at Kalama. Aside from the fact that large rewards were offered for the capture of the murderer, it is quite an honor to the one who performed the neat little piece of work.

THE MURDERER'S MOVEMENTS.

After committing the murder Martin managed in some way to hide himself until that evening when he came back into the city under cover of darkness, in the very clothes he left the scene of his crime. He procured lodgings in the Railroad lodging house, on Railroad street. He arrived there, as near as can be determined, about 9 o'clock Friday night, with no coat, no shirt, a big slouch white hat as a head covering, saying to the proprietor, a Teutonian, that he was just in from Seattle, and very sick. With the natural instincts to do good to his fellowman, and in consequence of the stranger having money to pay his way, he was given a room. He declined to see a doctor, alleging that he knew what ailed him and that all he needed was rest and a little care, and he would soon be all right. Thus, under the very nose of the detectives and a municipal and county force of officers, he calmly lay in bed.

As near as can be learned, when he first came to the lodging-house, he was absolutely devoid of any disguise other than his hat, which he had trimmed down to the brim, presumably with a penknife, making it look smaller. That he showed wonderful presence of mind and a perfect knowledge of his whereabouts, is shown by his choosing the very lodging-house of all others in the city where he could lay unmolested and easily mislead his host into believing him sick. The entire affair, even to his escape from the lodging-house, shows his cool determination and steel-like nerve.

THE WAY HE ESCAPED.

Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock he sent for the landlord, and asked him to kindly go out into the city and purchase some clothing for him, giving him a bill of large denomination. The German did as he had been directed, and purchased for him a hat, a common serge coat and vest and a pair of low-cut shoes. When he returned with them Martin told him that as soon as he was able to get out he would do so, as he was more than anxious to be in the open air and at work again. He was then taken up his usual supper of food suitable for an invalid, and saying he was sleepy and needed rest, locked his door, presumably to fold himself in Morpheus's arms.

THE "SICK MAN" DISAPPEARED.

About 9:30 o'clock the proprietor of the house was informed by a bed-maker that "the sick man" had gone. A bystander asked who the person referred to was. Explanations followed, and in less time than it takes to write it the kind-hearted landlord was convinced that he had been administering to the wants of a murderer, instead of a sick man. The startling news was immediately carried to police headquarters. It created quite a stir, as can well be imagined. Officers scattered in all directions, and looked into every nook or corner where Martin could have secreted himself; but they hunted in vain. In the meantime dispatches, giving the murderer's description, were sent to every station on the Northern Pacific. The following reached Conductor Granger at Winlock:

TACOMA, July 24.

"Search your train for a young man 22 or 23 years old. His face is smooth and he wears a linen coat and vest of like material. His pants are brown and he has on slippers. If he is on the train arrest him and wire me.

A. M. CHESNEY, Chief of Police."

THE MURDERER APPEARS.

How Martin was arrested is better told in the words of Conductor Granger. The latter said to a reporter last evening, on being asked how the arrest was effected:

"At 10:55 o'clock last night we stopped at Media, a small station a short distance this side of Tacoma, and took on several passengers. Shortly after pulling out, in going through the cars I noticed a young man sitting in a seat at one end of the car, directly next to the door. I turned the back of his seat over and told him to move up one seat and then he could lie down and go to sleep. The man moved as directed, but rather reluctantly. He did not go to sleep and seemed to be ill at ease. His actions and manner of dress attracted the attentions of Brakemen George Hollowell, J. F. Higgins and myself. We, of course, had descriptions of the murderer of Grant, and by comparing them with the stranger, we felt very positive that the man so much sought after was in our train. We kept our own counsel, however, and were very careful not to excite the murderer's attention."

HE BETRAYS HIMSELF.

"Even if we had not been provided with the description of Martin, we would have discovered in him the murderer of Grant. Shortly after discovering that a murderer was on the train Brakeman Hollowell took a seat beside him to await developments. After a few casual remarks on the part of Martin, the latter commenced to talk about the Tacoma murder.

"'It is a very bad piece of business, but I can't help thinking there is some excuse for [illegible] killing Grant,' commented the man that [illegible] to be arrested for the crime about which he was talking.

"Mr. Holloway answered that it was, when Martin again spoke up and said:

"'Did Martin get any money by his crime?' to which Hollowell answered:

"'I don't know, but the Tacoma papers state that Grant had about $1600 in his room immediately prior to his murder, but only $51 was found on his person after his death.' To this Martin said:

"'Well, then, if they don't find anything on him when he is caught, they can't prove that he killed Grant. Martin can very easily hide the money.'

"The conversation continued between the two men until Hollowell had to leave the murderer's side to call out a station that we had reached. As no one got out at the station, Martin seemed to lose his uneasiness and dropped off to sleep. We were glad to see this, as we were afraid that he would attempt to jump off the train. At Winlock I got off the train for the purpose of telegraphing the sheriff at Kalama to meet my train, as I had Martin on board. Here also I received a dispatch from Chief Chesney, telling me to search my train, but instead of doing so I answered, stating that I had the man he was after.

MARTIN PLACED UNDER ARREST.

"I proceeded on my way, and Martin did not wake up until I handed him over to Sheriff Holmes at Kalama."

"Did Martin make any resistance on being arrested?" the reporter asked.

"Well, hardly. He was too much surprised. When he woke up it was to find his wrists ornamented with handcuffs, and his eyes looked into the cold muzzle of a revolver. No, he made no resistance and was rushed off to the lock-up where he was kept closely guarded. I think that he runs a good chance of being lynched when he arrives in Tacoma, unless closely guarded, as the people are very much excited, and if they get a chance, will show him no mercy."

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

Mr. T. Moran, of the Northern Pacific Express Company, at Kalama, furnishes THE OREGONIAN with the following relative to the arrest of Martin:

"On the arrival of passenger No. 3 here, Sheriff Holmes boarded the train and found Martin in the smoking car, asleep. Holmes awoke him, and said:

"'You are wanted for murder in Tacoma. Come along.'

"Martin turned deathly pale, but made no effort to escape, as there was little chance for him to get away. Holmes then led his man away and lodged him in jail here.

"Martin acknowledged that he killed Grant, but says it was in self defense; that they quarreled over some girls they were keeping. He claims that Grant has a wife in California and that he also married again in Spokane Falls.

"The prisoner turned over about $1150 in $100 bills, and some small money, a comb, a small wallet and some other articles to Sheriff Holmes. He will be taken to-day to Tacoma and turned over to the authorities there. He claims to be sick, and is also very much alarmed of mob violence at Tacoma."

There is no doubt now that the right man has been captured at last, and if he does not meet his fate at the hands of a mob the law will take its course. Mr. Granger certainly deserves much credit for his neat capture of a man who had eluded detectives and police for several days.

LATTIN IN JAIL AT TACOMA.

He is Cool and Collected, and Talks Freely About His Crime.

TACOMA, W. T., July 24.—David Lattin, who murdered Charles C. Grant in [illegible] morning last, and who was arrested at [illegible] yesterday morning, arrived in Tacoma [illegible] and is now in the county jail.

Lattin claims to be 25 years old, but is boyish and looks to be no more than 18. He is of medium hight, light complexioned and puny looking. He claims to be an invalid. He is [illegible]

He says that he and Grant were acquainted with each other in Spokane; that they met at Pasco on their way to Tacoma; that they were roommates, and had been in the [illegible] together on the night of the murder. On returning to their room in the Franklin house, Grant suggested they visit the houses of ill-fame. Lattin objected, but was seized by Grant, who said he must go, when a scuffle ensued, in which Grant had the best of it, when Lattin drew a slungshot and struck Grant on the head, bursting the weapon. Grant pushed the "scrap" further, when Lattin drew a revolver and shot Grant several times. After he had fallen, Lattin then took what money Grant had and made his escape.

"Why did you take his money if you killed him in 'self-defense,' as you claim?" was asked of Lattin.

"Because I thought it would assist me in getting away, or in being defended, should I be caught," he replied.

"Where were you from the time the murder was committed until you boarded the train for Portland?"

"I was at my room in the railroad house, because I was sick. I went down to the washroom frequently to wash. I was not out of the city during that time. I read the daily papers, and what they said about me. They told a big lot of lies on me. I had no accomplice at all, and never went by the name of Coleman or Martin."

He resumed, "I went down to the depot last night before the train left and purchased a ticket of the agent. I was not disguised and had on no false beard. The police were there and saw me, as did many others. I was born in Iroquois county, Ills., and have a sister in Indiana, with whom I lived for several months about six years ago. When I left there I stole $350 from my brother-in-law. I afterwards corresponded with a girl who was a neighbor to my sister to find out what was said about me for stealing the money. I signed the name Townsend so that they would not know me. These are my letters found in the valise."

He continued: "I worked in a drug store in Spokane Falls for five years, and I belonged to the Y. M. C. A. My father hung himself in 1875. My mother is dead. I am sorry that this thing happened, but when a man is sick he has a right to defend himself. They may lynch me, but I can't help it."

The sum of $1134 was found on Lattin's person. He declares that he only took $1240, and after paying for his ticket had the above amount left. He leaves for Tacoma this afternoon, in company with Sheriff Holmes.

THE MURDERED MAN'S SISTER.

She Doubts His Marriage to the Woman Claiming To Be His First Wife.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—Mrs. Ann Helbach, a dressmaker at 307½ O'Farrell street, in this city, sister of Charles C. Grant, who was murdered in Tacoma on Friday, in speaking of his past life and his relations with the woman claiming to be his wife, said that in 1877 her brother, the murdered man, came to see her at Redwood City.

"He spoke of 'Mollie,'" she said, "as the woman with whom he was living. He did not call her his wife, but I naturally supposed that that was the relation she bore to him. She visited me at San Francisco, where I had removed, and spoke of her marriage certificate. I did not see the paper then, nor have I since. In 1877 she came to this city and took charge of the Revere lodging house. Her husband, not liking the reputation of the house made her give it up. He then shortly after left the city, going to Albany, Or., and to Pueblo, Colo. He wanted her to go, but she refused, and in four years he returned. He told Mollie that they must separate, and that he was going away again. He went to Spokane Falls and afterward to Tacoma. He wrote to her and sent her money frequently, and things ran along in this way until Dr. McCash appeared on the scene a few months ago. She wrote asking his consent to a divorce, and he replied, telling her to secure one by default. Instead, however, of securing the decree, she wrote to a lawyer in Tacoma to find out if her husband had accumulated any property. He replied that in addition to $10,000 in the bank he had valuable real estate and the best paying bakery in the place. She came to me, threatening to go to Tacoma and have a receiver appointed for the business, saying: 'I'll see him in jail wearing stripes, and I will pay for the suit and gloat over his misery.'

"On Saturday night I received the first intelligence of my brother's death, and went to see her with regard to the arrangements for the funeral.

When I reached the house I found that she was going to Tacoma on the evening train and had already gone to the ferry. I followed her and asked whether she had her marriage certificate with her. She said she had, and yet I find that she now says that she forgot it. I know from experiences that I cannot here recount that Mollie is a bold, bad woman, whose sole object in going to Tacoma is to secure my brother's hard-earned property."

SHE GOT EVEN ON GEN. GIBBON.

Disastrous Ending of a Quiet Day's Fishing on the Tualatin.

A Portland man tells a good story on General Gibbon, the gallant commander of the department of the Columbia. The story runs that General Gibbon and a party of friends were fishing in the Tualatin, about eight miles from Gaston, a few days ago. The general was standing upon a rock in mid stream, when a farmer appeared on the scene, rake in hand, and addressing him, said:

"Mister, you know that we don't allow trespassing here." As he spoke, the farmer pointed to a placard reading that trespassing was prohibited.

"Very sorry, but I did not know it," responded General Gibbon, trying to maintain his equilibrium.

The cool answer fired the farmer. "Can't you read? Can't you see these signs?" he roared.

"I can see the sign, but I can't read. I had an idea that they were to show that the farm was for sale."

This retort knocked the farmer speechless and he retired from the field. His wife then came to see what she could do with the hero of Gettysburg. She began by giving him a scowl that came near frightening him to the rock upon which he stood. Then she blurted out:

"You had better go to school and learn to read."

"Madam," replied the general, very politely, "I am most too old to learn, [illegible]"

General Gibbon never finished his sentence. If he did the remainder was drowned in the roaring waters of the Tualatin. He unfortunately lost his balance and plunged head foremost into the cold stream. When he came to the surface the first thing he saw was a woman breaking her heart for joy and dancing a continuous war dance.

"That's good for you," she exclaimed, exultantly. "Next time you will learn to read. Hurrah!"

Then she went her way rejoicing and left General Gibbon's friends to fish him out of the river.

AN EDITOR FROM ST. PAUL.

Z. T. Cowles, of the "Pioneer Press," and Wife on a Visit in Oregon.

Among the passengers on board the T. J. Potter on the excursion of the Nebraska press association to Ilwaco, was Z. T. Cowles, the managing editor of the St. Paul Pioneer Press, and his wife. Mr. Cowles is here on his first visit. "Oregon," he said to a reporter yesterday, "is certainly a wonderful country. This is an interesting country of vast resources and an unknown future. I was really surprised to find it what it is, and it is little wonder that Eastern people who have never visited the coast have but a very vague conception of this Western country or of its resources."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cowles were delighted with the ride on the Columbia, and expressed themselves regarding the beautiful and picturesque scenery.

Mr. Cowles very much regretted that he could not remain longer, but the imperative demands of business call him to his field of labor in Minnesota. He left yesterday evening for Tacoma. From there he returns via the Northern Pacific, making five more stops before reaching St. Paul.

THE RUSH TO THE NORTHWEST.

The Passenger Business is Larger Than It Has Ever Been.

"This has been a great year for traveling," said A. D. Charlton, the assistant general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific, to a reporter yesterday. "It is the best year we have ever had for all kinds of travel, eastward, westward and local. So great has become the local travel on the main line that it has been found necessary to put on a local sleeper between Tacoma and Spokane Falls. The Alaska travel is stronger than ever. There are three steamers on the route and every one is filled to overflowing every trip. [illegible] Portland [illegible] for the forthcoming exposition of the [illegible] Industrial Association. We will make reduced rates during the exposition."

Inquiry at the Southern and Union Pacific offices brought out a similar story. The rush for the Northwest is unprecedented; all crowded trains are the rule, not the exception.

NEW PARK THEATER.—Mirthfulness and laughter reign supreme at this house of amusement this week, inspired by that aggregation of absurdities, "A Bunch of Keys." Large audiences nightly roar over the humorous situations and applaud the clever work of Marietta Nash and George Lauri.

CORDRAY'S MUSEE AND THEATER.—"Fanchon the Cricket" seems to grow in favor with each performance, and there is no diminution in the size of the audiences which nightly gather to witness this most charming play. Miss Tittel is winning golden opinions for her honest, conscientious work in the title role.

SOMETHING NEW.

Messrs. Hoyt & Co., music dealers, have just placed in their warerooms a new and wonderful instrument called [illegible] organ, which is exciting general interest among musicians. It is adapted for use in churches, lodges, halls, etc., and in quality of tone, volume and sustaining power rivals the best two-manual pipe organs. [illegible] case of solid antique oak and decorated pipes gives it a handsome appearance. They invite the public to inspect this wonderful instrument.

CONGRESSMEN IN THE CITY.

To-day They Will Take a Ride on the Potter to the Mouth of the River.

General Goff Confident That the Courts Will Give Him the Governorship of West Virginia—He Was Elected.

A party of men of national repute arrived on the Oregon Short Line train last night and are at the Esmond. They are: Congressman G. W. E. Dorsey, of Nebraska, Congressman J. C. Burrows, of Michigan, ex-Governor Stewart, of Vermont, General Nathan Goff, of West Virginia, ex-Congressman Hayden, of Massachusetts, and Captain John S. S. Herr, of West Virginia. Mr. Perry S. Heath, a representative of the United Press Association, is also among the visitors. Congressman McKinley, of Ohio, did not come as was expected. His wife is an invalid; and at the last moment he telegraphed to Congressman Dorsey, saying that he thought it would not be advisable to leave her.

Upon the arrival of the party in this city they were met by ex-Congressman M. C. George, General Wm. Kapus, President Donald Macleay and Secretary Arnold, of the Board of Trade, and Congressman Binger Hermann, who escorted them to the Esmond. Here they were met by Senator John H. Mitchell and several prominent men, and there was a general handshaking all around.

The visitors are the guests of Congressman Dorsey, who is one of the greatest friends the West has in the national house. He is a member of the committee on territories, of which he will probably be chairman next session. He has been a strong advocate of many important measures for the advancement of the West, and his idea in bringing the distinguished gentlemen to the West was to give them an opportunity to see the country he has been talking for.

WHERE THEY HAVE BEEN.

An OREGONIAN reporter met Congressman Dorsey as he stepped into the lobby of the Esmond, and asked him for a brief account of the trip.

"Whew, I am awfully tired and warm," said the congressman, good-naturedly. "Come, I will introduce you to Mr. Heath, who is a newspaper man. He will tell you all you want to know."

Mr. Heath said the excursionists left Fremont, Neb., July 15. En route they made stops at Denver, Cheyenne, Salt Lake city and Boise City. They left the latter point at 10 o'clock Wednesday night. They had arranged to go right through to the Sound, but when they reached here they found that they are to be taken to the mouth of the Columbia river to-day. They will leave on the T. J. Potter at 8 A. M., accompanied by Congressman Hermann and the Board of Trade committee, who met them at the train last night. After taking in Portland they will visit Puget sound, Victoria and Vancouver. Returning to the Sound, they will go East from Tacoma. They will fish for a day at Lake Pend d'Oreille, whence they will proceed to Helena, M. T., and drop in upon the constitution makers. Then they will continue their journey to Minneapolis.

HE'S A GOVERNOR, EVERY INCH OF HIM.

General Goff is one of the most jovial of the public men who have visited Portland. He will be 46 on October 9, but he does not look much over 35. He served with distinction in the national army in the rebellion, and he has twice held the post of United States district attorney for West Virginia. He was also secretary of the navy during the last few months of President Hayes's term. He was elected to congress as a republican in 1884 and again in 1886. Last year he was the republican nominee for governor. General Goff is highly elated over his jaunt to the West.

"We have had a glorious trip through a wonderful land," said he to a reporter. "Before coming, I thought I knew something about this country, but I find that I know nothing at all."

"The people of Oregon feel proud to have you visit the state," remarked a bystander.

"They don't want to see us half so bad as we want to see them," said the governor with a smile.

"What is the present status of the gubernatorial contest in West Virginia?" asked the reporter.

"The court is in session, and they are trying the case now, while I am on a leave of absence," said the governor laughingly.

"West Virginia had three governors at one time not long ago, did it not?"

"There were three claimants for the office. I am the one who was elected."

"Are you confident of winning the case in court?"

"I have no doubt in the world but I will come out ahead. I will fight it out on that line if it takes every day of my term, or every day of my life. I went into the fight to win, and I am not going to be cheated out of the office. The people are in accord with me and want to see me seated, but the ringsters are against me. Personally, I don't care a snap about the governorship, but it is the principle of the matter that I am fighting for—the principles of the good old republican party."

THERE IS NO SOLID SOUTH.

"How much longer is the South going to be solid?"

"Why, there is no solid south. I broke it; West Virginia broke it," General Goff supplemented his remarks with a good hearty laugh, and gave the reporter a good natured slap on the shoulder that made his teeth chatter.

"What are the prospects for 1892 in the South?"

"Next time we will carry West Virginia, Virginia and Tennessee."

"What is the cause of all this political change in the South?"

"It is the protective policy of the republican party that is making votes for it. The South is making rapid progress, and its great and growing industries need protection. There are now thousands of people where two years ago there was not one, and cities and towns where two years ago there was nothing but a wilderness."

Congressman Burrows is among the candidates for the speakership of the next house. He has a strong following, and many look upon him as the next speaker. When he saw the reporter coming after him with note book and pencil, he threw up his hands and said:

"Young man, please spare me to-night. I am actually too tired to talk. If you will only come with us on the excursion to-morrow, I will tell you lots of things."

Congressman Burrows did not care to talk about the speakership or the prospective extra session of congress.

Congressman Dorsey was taken suddenly ill shortly after going to his room. Dr. D. H. Rand, who was summoned, found that his illness was not serious, and that his suffering was caused by sick headache and an irritable stomach brought about by fatigue. At midnight Congressman Dorsey was resting easy and Dr. Rand was confident that he would be able to accompany the party to the mouth of the river to-day.

The Parke & Lacy Machinery Company:

Gentlemen—In answering your request for a statement as to the doings of the Westinghouse "Compound" Engine, as compared with our other engines, we would state that our plant consisted of an Atlas "Automatic" Engine, "11x16," and a Brush Dynamo, running 22 2000-C. P. Arc Lights and 50 16-C. P. Incandescent Lamps. The coal consumed during a run of six hours averaged 1850 pounds of "Seattle Nut." We replaced said engine with a Westinghouse "Compound" Automatic, size "10 and 18x10," and consumed, on an average, 1000 pounds of the same kind of coal in the same time, doing the same work. We are now running a Westinghouse Alternating Dynamo, carrying 275 16-C. P. Incandescent Lamps, and a Brush Dynamo, carrying 22 2000-C. P. Arc Lights. Our average coal consumption per run of six hours is 1270 pounds "Seattle Nut."

Yours Truly,

(Signed) HAYWARDS ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.

It may be well to state here that the Parke & Lacy Machinery Company, whose headquarters for the Pacific Northwest are located at Portland, will take pleasure in answering all inquiries, regarding the "Westinghouse" that may be sent to them here. Their address is

DAVID E. MARTIN CAPTURED

Charles C. Grant's Murderer Run to Earth Yesterday Morning.

Conductor George H. Granger Does What a Sheriff's Posse and Several Detectives Were Unable to Accomplish.

David E. Martin, alias Lattin, alias Coleman, who killed Charles C. Grant, his friend and roommate, in a Tacoma lodging house at 8 o'clock last Friday morning, was arrested at 4 o'clock yesterday morning by Conductor George H. Granger, of train No. 3, bound for this city, at Kalama. Aside from the fact that large rewards were offered for the capture of the murderer, it is quite an honor to the one who performed the neat little piece of work.

THE MURDERER'S MOVEMENTS.

After committing the murder Martin managed in some way to hide himself until that evening when he came back into the city under cover of darkness, in the very clothes he left the scene of his crime. He procured lodgings in the Railroad lodging house, on Railroad street. He arrived there, as near as can be determined, about 9 o'clock Friday night, with no coat, no shirt, a big slouch white hat as a head covering, saying to the proprietor, a Teutonian, that he was just in from Seattle, and very sick. With the natural instincts to do good to his fellowman, and in consequence of the stranger having money to pay his way, he was given a room. He declined to see a doctor, alleging that he knew what ailed him and that all he needed was rest and a little care, and he would soon be all right. Thus, under the very nose of the detectives and a municipal and county force of officers, he calmly lay in bed.

As near as can be learned, when he first came to the lodging-house, he was absolutely devoid of any disguise other than his hat, which he had trimmed down to the brim, presumably with a penknife, making it look smaller. That he showed wonderful presence of mind and a perfect knowledge of his whereabouts, is shown by his choosing the very lodging-house of all others in the city where he could lay unmolested and easily mislead his host into believing him sick. The entire affair, even to his escape from the lodging-house, shows his cool determination and steel-like nerve.

THE WAY HE ESCAPED.

Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock he sent for the landlord, and asked him to kindly go out into the city and purchase some clothing for him, giving him a bill of large denomination. The German did as he had been directed, and purchased for him a hat, a common serge coat and vest and a pair of low-cut shoes. When he returned with them Martin told him that as soon as he was able to get out he would do so, as he was more than anxious to be in the open air and at work again. He was then taken up his usual supper of food suitable for an invalid, and saying he was sleepy and needed rest, locked his door, presumably to fold himself in Morpheus's arms.

THE "SICK MAN" DISAPPEARED.

About 9:30 o'clock the proprietor of the house was informed by a bed-maker that "the sick man" had gone. A bystander asked who the person referred to was. Explanations followed, and in less time than it takes to write it the kind-hearted landlord was convinced that he had been administering to the wants of a murderer, instead of a sick man. The startling news was immediately carried to police headquarters. It created quite a stir, as can well be imagined. Officers scattered in all directions, and looked into every nook or corner where Martin could have secreted himself; but they hunted in vain. In the meantime dispatches, giving the murderer's description, were sent to every station on the Northern Pacific. The following reached Conductor Granger at Winlock:

TACOMA, July 24.

"Search your train for a young man 22 or 23 years old. His face is smooth and he wears a linen coat and vest of like material. His pants are brown and he has on slippers. If he is on the train arrest him and wire me.

A. M. CHESNEY, Chief of Police."

THE MURDERER APPEARS.

How Martin was arrested is better told in the words of Conductor Granger. The latter said to a reporter last evening, on being asked how the arrest was effected:

"At 10:55 o'clock last night we stopped at Media, a small station a short distance this side of Tacoma, and took on several passengers. Shortly after pulling out, in going through the cars I noticed a young man sitting in a seat at one end of the car, directly next to the door. I turned the back of his seat over and told him to move up one seat and then he could lie down and go to sleep. The man moved as directed, but rather reluctantly. He did not go to sleep and seemed to be ill at ease. His actions and manner of dress attracted the attentions of Brakemen George Hallowell, J. F. Higgins and myself. We, of course, had descriptions of the murderer of Grant, and by comparing them with the stranger, we felt very positive that the man so much sought after was in our train. We kept our own counsel, however, and were very careful not to excite the murderer's attention."

HE BETRAYS HIMSELF.

"Even if we had not been provided with the description of Martin, we would have discovered in him the murderer of Grant. Shortly after discovering that a murderer was on the train Brakeman Hollowell took a seat beside him to await developments. After a few casual remarks on the part of Martin, the latter commenced to talk about the Tacoma murder.

"'It is a very bad piece of business, but I can't help thinking there is some excuse for Martin killing Grant', commenced the man that was soon to be arrested for the crime about which he was talking.

"Mr. Holloway answered that it was, when Martin again spoke up and said:

"'Did Martin get any money by his crime?' to which Hollowell answered:

"'I don't know, but the Tacoma papers state that Grant had about $2000 in his room immediately prior to his murder; but only $41 was found on his person after his death.' To this Martin said:

"'Well, then, if they don't find anything on him when he is caught, they can't prove that he killed Grant. Martin can very easily hide the money.'

"The conversation continued between the two men until Hollowell had to leave the murderer's side to call out a station that we had reached. As no one got on at the station, Martin seemed to lose his uneasiness and dropped off to sleep. We were glad to see this, as we were afraid that he would attempt to jump off the train. At Winlock I got off the train for the purpose of telegraphing the sheriff at Kalama to meet my train, as I had Martin on board. Here also I received a dispatch from Chief Chesney, telling me to search my train, but instead of doing so I answered, stating that I had the man he was after.

MARTIN PLACED UNDER ARREST.

"I proceeded on my way, and Martin did not wake up until I handed him over to Sheriff Holmes at Kalama."

"Did Martin make any resistance on being arrested?" the reporter asked.

"Well, hardly. He was too much surprised. When he woke up it was to find his wrists ornamented with handcuffs, and his eyes looked into the cold muzzle of a revolver. No, he made no resistance and was rushed off to the lock-up where he was kept closely guarded. I think that he runs a good chance of being lynched when he arrives in Tacoma, unless closely guarded, as the people are very much excited, and if they get a chance, will show him no mercy."

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

Mr. T. Moran, of the Northern Pacific Express Company, at Kalama, furnishes THE OREGONIAN with the following relative to the arrest of Martin:

"On the arrival of passenger No. 3 here, Sheriff Holmes boarded the train and found Martin in the smoking-car, asleep. Holmes awoke him, and said:

"'You are wanted for murder in Tacoma. Come along.'

"Martin turned deathly pale, but made no effort to escape, as there was little chance for him to get away. Holmes then led his man away and lodged him in jail here.

"Martin acknowledged that he killed Grant, but says it was in self defense; that they quarreled over some girls they were keeping. He claims that Grant has a wife in California and that he also married again in Spokane Falls.

"The prisoner turned over about $1100 in $100 bills, and some small money, a comb, a small wallet and some other articles to Sheriff Holmes. He will be taken to-day to Tacoma and turned over to the authorities there. He claims to be sick, and is also very much alarmed of mob violence at Tacoma."

There is no doubt now that the right man has been captured at last, and if he does not meet his fate at the hands of a mob the law will take its course. Mr. Granger certainly deserves much credit for his neat capture of a man who had eluded detectives and police for several days.

LATTIN IN JAIL AT TACOMA.

He is Cool and Collected, and Talks Freely About His Crime.

TACOMA, W. T., July 24.—David Lattin, who murdered Charles C. Grant in this city on Friday morning last, and who was arrested at [illegible] yesterday morning, arrived in Tacoma [illegible] and is now in the county jail.

Lattin claims to be 25 years old, but is beardless and looks to be no more than 18. He is of medium hight, light complexioned and puny looking. He claims to be an invalid. He is cool and cautious.

He says that he and Grant were well acquainted with each other in Spokane; that they met at Pasco on their way to Tacoma; that they were room-mates, and had been to the Theater Comique together on the night of the murder. On returning to their room in the Franklin house, Grant suggested that they visit the houses of ill-fame. Lattin objected, but was seized by Grant, who said he must go, when a scuffle ensued, in which Grant had the best of it, when Lattin drew a slungshot and struck Grant on the head, bursting the weapon. Grant pushed the "scrap" further, when Lattin drew a revolver and shot Grant several times. After he had fallen, Lattin then took what money Grant had and made his escape.

"Why did you take his money if you killed him in 'self-defense,' as you claim?" was asked of Lattin.

"Because I thought it would assist me in getting away, or in being defended, should I be caught," he replied.

"Where were you from the time the murder was committed until you boarded the train for Portland?"

"I was at my room in the railroad house, because I was sick. I went down to the washroom frequently to wash. I was not out of the city during that time. I read the daily papers, and what they said about me. They told a big lot of lies on me. I had no accomplice at all, and never went by the name of Coleman or Martin."

He resumed, "I went down to the depot last night before the train left and purchased a ticket of the agent. I was not disguised and had on no false beard. The police were there and saw me, as did many others. I was born in Iroquois county, Ills., and have a sister in Indiana, with whom I lived for several months about six years ago. When I left there I stole $350 from my brother-in-law. I afterwards corresponded with a girl who was a neighbor to my sister to find out what was said about me for stealing the money. I signed the name Townsend so that they would not know me. Those are my letters found in the valise."

He continued: "I worked in a drug store in Spokane Falls for five years, and I belonged to the Y. M. C. A. My father hung himself in 1875. My mother is dead. I am sorry that this thing happened, but when a man is sick he has a right to defend himself. They may lynch me, but I can't help it."

The sum of $1134 was found on Lattin's person. He declares that he only took $1240, and after paying for his ticket had the above amount left. He leaves for Tacoma this afternoon, in company with Sheriff Holmes.

THE MURDERED MAN'S SISTER.

She Doubts His Marriage to the Woman Claiming To Be His First Wife.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—Mrs. Ann Helbach, a dressmaker at 307½ O'Farrell street, in this city, sister of Charles C. Grant, who was murdered in Tacoma on Friday, in speaking of his past life and his relations with the woman claiming to be his wife, said that in 1877 her brother, the murdered man, came to see her at Redwood City.

"He spoke of 'Mollie,'" she said, "as the woman with whom he was living. He did not call her his wife, but I naturally supposed that that was the relation she bore to him. She visited me at San Francisco, where I had removed, and spoke of her marriage certificate. I did not see the paper then, nor have I since. In 1877 she came to this city and took charge of the Revere lodging house. Her husband, not liking the reputation of the house made her give it up. He then shortly after left the city, going to Albany, Or., and to Pueblo, Colo. He wanted her to go, but she refused, and in four years he returned. He told Mollie that they must separate, and that he was going away again. He went to Spokane Falls and afterward to Tacoma. He wrote to her and sent her money frequently, and things ran along in this way until Dr. McCash appeared on the scene a few months ago. She wrote asking his consent to a divorce, and he replied, telling her to secure one by default. Instead, however, of securing the decree, she wrote to a lawyer in Tacoma to find out if her husband had accumulated any property. He replied that in addition to $10,000 in the bank he had valuable real estate and the best paying bakery in the place. She came to me, threatening to go to Tacoma and have a receiver appointed for the business, saying: 'I'll see him in jail wearing stripes, and I will pay for the suit and gloat over his misery.'

"On Saturday night I received the first intelligence of my brother's death, and went to see her with regard to the arrangements for the funeral.

When I reached the house I found that she was going to Tacoma on the evening train and had already gone to the ferry. I followed her and asked whether she had her marriage certificate with her. She said she had, and yet I find that she now says that she forgot it. I know from experiences that I cannot here recount that Mollie is a bold, bad woman, whose sole object in going to Tacoma is to secure my brother's hard-earned property."

SHE GOT EVEN ON GEN. GIBBON.

Disastrous Ending of a Quiet Day's Fishing on the Tualatin.

A Portland man tells a good story on General Gibbon, the gallant commander of the department of the Columbia. The story runs that General Gibbon and a party of friends were fishing in in the Tualatin, about eight miles from Gaston, a few days ago. The general was standing upon a rock in mid stream, when a farmer appeared on the scene, rake in hand, and addressing him, said:

"Mister, you know that we don't allow trespassing here." As he spoke, the farmer pointed to a placard reading that trespassing was prohibited.

"Very sorry, but I did not know it," responded General Gibbon, trying to maintain his equilibrium.

The cool answer fired the farmer. "Can't you read; don't you see the signs?" he roared.

"I can see the signs, but I can't read. I had an idea that they went to show that the farm was for sale."

This retort knocked the farmer speechless and he retired from the field. His wife then came to see what she could do with the hero of Gettysburg. She began by giving him a scowl that came near transfixing him to the rock upon which he stood. Then she bursted out:

"You had better go to school and learn to read."

"Madam," replied the general, very politely, "I am most too old to learn to read, I —"

General Gibbon never finished his sentence. If he did the remainder was drowned in the roaring waters of the Tualatin. He unfortunately lost his balance and plunged head foremost into the cold stream. When he came to the surface the first thing he saw was a woman breaking her back for joy and dancing a Comanche war dance.

"That's good for you," she exclaimed, exultantly. "Next time you will learn to read. Hurrah!"

Then she went her way rejoicing and left General Gibbon's friends to fish him out of the river.

AN EDITOR FROM ST. PAUL.

Z. T. Cowles, of the "Pioneer Press," and Wife on a Visit in Oregon.

Among the passengers on board the T. J. Potter on the excursion of the Nebraska press association to Ilwaco, was Z. T. Cowles, the managing editor of the St. Paul Pioneer Press, and his wife. Mr. Cowles is here on his first visit. "Oregon," he said to a reporter yesterday, "is certainly a wonderful country. This is an interesting country of vast resources and an unknown future. I was really surprised to find it what it is, and it is little wonder that Eastern people who have never visited the coast have but a very vague conception of this Western country or of its resources."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cowles were delighted with the ride on the Columbia, and they freely expressed themselves regarding the beautiful and picturesque scenery.

Mr. Cowles very much regretted that he could not remain longer, but the imperative demands of business call him to his field of labor in Minnesota. He left yesterday evening for Tacoma. From there he returns via the Northern Pacific, making five more stops before reaching St. Paul.

THE RUSH TO THE NORTHWEST.

The Passenger Business Is Larger Than It Has Ever Been.

"This has been a great year for traveling," said A. D. Charlton, the assistant general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific, to a reporter yesterday. "It is the best year we have ever had for all kinds of travel, eastward, westward and local. So great has become the local travel on the main line that it has been found necessary to put on a local sleeper between Tacoma and Spokane Falls. The Alaska craze is stronger than ever. There are three steamers on the route and every one is filled to overflowing every trip. Great crowds will visit Portland during the forthcoming exposition of the North Pacific Industrial Association. We will make reduced rates during the exposition."

Inquiry at the Southern and Union Pacific offices brought forth a similar story. The rush for the Northwest is unprecedented; all crowded trains are the rule, not the exception.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW PARK THEATER.—Mirthfulness and laughter reign supreme at this house of amusement this week, inspired by that aggregation of absurdities, "A Bunch of Keys," large audiences nightly roar over the humorous situations and applaud the clever work of Marietta Nash and George Laurl.

CORDRAY'S MUSEE AND THEATER.—"Fanchon the Cricket" seems to grow in favor with each performance, and there is no diminution in the size of the audiences which nightly gather to witness this most charming play. Miss Tittel is winning golden opinions for her honest, conscientious work in the title role.

SOMETHING NEW.

Messrs. Hoyt & Co., music dealers, have just placed in their warerooms a new and wonderful instrument called a Vocalion organ, which is exciting general interest among musicians. It is adapted for use in churches, lodges, halls, etc., and in quality of tone, volume and sustaining power rivals the best two-manual pipe organs. A case of solid antique oak and decorated pipes gives it a handsome appearance. They invite the public to inspect this wonderful instrument.

"THE BRILLIANT."

The grand opening of the above named resort will take place at No. 9 Alder street, between Front and First, this morning at 10 o'clock. A general invitation is extended to my former friends and acquaintances, as well as to the general public, to call and see one of the neatest places in the city where they may be assured of the politest attention and the finest liquors and cigars. Respectfully yours, SOL SHAPIRER.

LEAVE IT TO ME.

For a nice banquet, lunching or picnic party, etc., just leave it all to Freimann, corner First and Oak.

CONGRESSMEN IN THE CITY.

To-day They Will Take a Ride on the Potter to the Mouth of the River.

General Goff Confident That the Courts Will Give Him the Governorship of West Virginia—He Was Elected.

A party of men of national repute arrived on the Oregon Short Line train last night and are at the Esmond. They are: Congressman G. W. E. Dorsey, of Nebraska, Congressman J. C. Burrows, of Michigan, ex-Governor Stewart, of Vermont, General Nathan Goff, of West Virginia, ex-Congressman Hayden, of Massachusetts, and Captain John S. S. Herr, of West Virginia. Mr. Perry S. Heath, a representative of the United Press Association, is also among the visitors. Congressman McKinley, of Ohio, did not come as was expected. His wife is an invalid, and at the last moment he telegraphed to Congressman Dorsey, saying that he thought it would not be advisable to leave her.

Upon the arrival of the party in this city they were met by ex-Congressman M. C. George, General Wm. Kapus, President Donald Macleay and Secretary Arnold, of the Board of Trade, and Congressman Binger Hermann, who escorted them to the Esmond. Here they were met by Senator John H. Mitchell and several prominent men, and there was a general handshaking all around.

The visitors are the guests of Congressman Dorsey, who is one of the greatest friends the West has in the national house. He is a member of the committee on territories, of which he will probably be chairman next session. He has been a strong advocate of many important measures for the advancement of the West, and his idea in bringing the distinguished gentlemen to the West was to give them an opportunity to see the country he has been talking for.

WHERE THEY HAVE BEEN.

An OREGONIAN reporter met Congressman Dorsey as he stepped into the lobby of the Esmond, and asked him for a brief account of the trip.

"Whew, I am awfully tired and warm," said the congressman, good-naturedly. "Come, I will introduce you to Mr. Heath, who is a newspaper man. He will tell you all you want to know."

Mr. Heath said the excursionists left Fremont, Neb., July 13. En route they made stops at Denver, Cheyenne, Salt Lake city and Boise City. They left the latter point at 10 o'clock Wednesday night. They had arranged to go right through to the Sound, but when they reached here they found that they are to be taken to the mouth of the Columbia river to-day. They will leave on the T. J. Potter at 8 A. M., accompanied by Congressman Hermann and the Board of Trade committee, who met them at the train last night. After taking in Portland they will visit Puget sound, Victoria and Vancouver. Returning to the Sound, they will go East from Tacoma. They will fish for a day at Lake Pend d'Oreille, whence they will proceed to Helena, M. T., and drop in upon the constitution makers. Then they will continue their journey to Minneapolis.

HE'S A GOVERNOR, EVERY INCH OF HIM.

General Goff is one of the most jovial of the public men who have visited Portland. He will be 43 on October 9, but he does not look much over 35. He served with distinction in the national army in the rebellion, and he has twice held the post of United States district attorney for West Virginia. He was also secretary of the navy during the last few months of President Hayes's term. He was elected to congress as a republican in 1884 and again in 1886. Last year he was the republican nominee for governor. General Goff is highly elated over his jaunt to the West.

"We have had a glorious trip through a wonderful land," said he to a reporter. "Before coming, I thought I knew something about this country, but I find that I know nothing at all."

"The people of Oregon feel proud to have you visit the state," remarked a bystander.

"They don't want to see us half so bad as we want to see them," said the governor with a smile.

"What is the present status of the gubernatorial contest in West Virginia?" asked the reporter.

"The court is in session, and they are trying the case now, while I am on a leave of absence," said the governor laughingly.

"West Virginia had three governors at one time not long ago, did it not?"

"There were three claimants for the office. I am the one who was elected."

"Are you confident of winning the case in court?"

"I have no doubt in the world but I will come out ahead. I will fight it out on that line if it takes every day of my term, or every day of my life. I went into the fight to win, and I am not going to be cheated out of the office. The people are in accord with me and want to see me seated, but the ringsters are against me. Personally, I don't care a snap about the governorship, but it is the principle of the matter that I am fighting for—the principles of the good old republican party."

THERE IS NO SOLID SOUTH.

"How much longer is the South going to be solid?"

"Why, there is no solid south. I broke it; West Virginia broke it." General Goff supplemented his remarks with a good hearty laugh, and gave the reporter a good-natured slap on the shoulder that made his teeth chatter.

"What are the prospects for 1892 in the South?"

"Next time we will carry West Virginia, Virginia and Tennessee."

"What is the cause of all this political change in the south?"

"It is the protective policy of the republican party that is making votes for it. The South is making rapid progress, and its great and growing industries need protection. There are now thousands of people where two years ago there was not one person, and cities and towns where two years ago there was nothing but a wilderness."

Congressman Burrows is among the candidates for the speakership of the next house. He has a strong following, and many look upon him as the next speaker. When he saw the reporter coming after him with note book and pencil, he threw up his hands and said:

"Young man, please spare me to-night. I am actually too tired to talk. If you will only come with us on the excursion to-morrow, I will tell you lots of things."

Congressman Burrows did not care to talk about the speakership or the prospective extra session of congress.

Congressman Dorsey was taken suddenly ill shortly after going to his room. Dr. D. H. Rand, who was summoned, found that his illness was not serious, and that his suffering was caused by sick headache and an irritable stomach brought about by fatigue. At midnight Congressman Dorsey was resting easy and Dr. Rand was confident that he would be able to accompany the party to the mouth of the river to-day.

THE MERRILL CYCLE CLUBS.

Bicycles, tricycles, safeties, etc., sold through the club system at $1 a week or $4 a month. We can sell you a machine as a club member from ten to twenty per cent. cheaper than we can on the installment plan for this reason. By forming purchasers into clubs of sixty members each, we are guaranteed a wholesale cash sale of sixty machines, ranging in price from $10 to $200; purchasers making their payments weekly or monthly (from $1 to $4 weekly, and at the same ratio monthly), in proportion to price of machine ordered, not one half down and interest on balance until paid. There is one machine delivered to some one member of each club each week, the member who will get this machine is determined by the method always used in the club system at [illegible] the sixty weeks. Any member [illegible] get his machine by paying the difference between what he has paid in to the club and the price of the machine ordered. Join our cycle club now and get an article with which you can regain or gain health, strength and good looks by the most pleasant exercise on earth. For further information in regard to the clubs, see our other advertisements or call or write to us at the Cycle Castle, 49 Morrison.

CAUTION
W. L. DOUGLAS' name and the price are stamped on the bottom of all shoes advertised by him before leaving his factory; this protects the wearer against high prices and inferior goods. If your dealer does not keep the style or kind you want, or offers you shoes without W. L. Douglas' name and price stamped on them, and says they are just as good, do not be deceived thereby, but send direct to the factory, for you can get what you want by return mail, postage paid. Dealers make more profit on unknown shoes that are not warranted by anybody; therefore do not be induced to buy shoes that have no reputation. Buy only those that have W. L. Douglas' name and price on them, and you are sure to get full value for your money. Thousands of dollars are saved annually in this country by the wearers of W. L. Douglas' Shoes. In ordering by mail state whether you want Congress, Button or Lace, London cap toe, plain French toe, or narrow cap toe, and be sure to give size and width you wear. I can fit any foot that is not deformed, as my shoes are made in a great variety of widths, sizes and half sizes. I guarantee a fit, prompt delivery and perfect satisfaction or money refunded upon return of the shoes in good condition.

HAYWARDS, Cal., May 2d, 1889.

The Parke & Lacy Machinery Company:

Gentlemen—In answering your request for a statement as to the economy of the Westinghouse "Compound" Engine, as compared with other engines, we would state that our plant consisted of an Atlas Automatic Engine, "11x16," and a Brush Dynamo, running 22 2000-C. P. Arc Lights and 90 16-C. P. Incandescent Lamps. The coal consumed during a run of six hours averaged 1850 pounds of "Seattle Nut." We replaced said engine with a Westinghouse "Compound" Automatic, size "10 and 16x10," and consumed, on an average, 1000 pounds of the same kind of coal in the same time, doing the same work. We are now running a Westinghouse Alternating Dynamo, carrying 275 16-C. P. Incandescent Lamps, and our Brush Dynamo, carrying 22 2000-C. P. Arc Lights. Our average coal consumption per run of six hours is 1270 pounds "Seattle Nut."

Yours Truly,

(Signed) HAYWARDS ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.

It may be well to state here that the Parke & Lacy Machinery Company, whose headquarters for the Pacific Northwest are located at Portland, will take pleasure in answering all inquiries, regarding the Westinghouse" that may be sent to them here. Their address is
